

AMERICANS REACH BELGIAN BORDER

ALLIES SEIZE
GREAT FRENCH
CITY OF LYONNICE FALLS; NAZIS
IN HEADLONG
FLIGHT

BY NOLAN NORGAARD

Rome, Aug. 31 (AP)—Allied capture of the great French city of Lyon, 170 miles from the Mediterranean beaches, appeared imminent tonight after survivors of the German 19th army broke off the unequal fight in the Rhone valley and resumed their headlong flight before Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's American forces.

Nice, largest of the Riviera's famed playgrounds, fell without a fight to an American force driving east toward the Italian border, about 12 miles away. The famous resort city of 200,000 population was virtually undamaged except for Nazi demolitions in the harbor area.

Red Cross Cars Looted

From "near Lyon" Sid Feder, Associated Press war correspondent, reported seeing three railroad carloads of American Red Cross supplies—plainly marked—that had been looted by the fleeing Germans. He said smashed and torn cartons of food and medical supplies were scattered over a wide area.

The bag of German prisoners rose so steadily that a total of 50,000 announced today was obsolete before it could appear in print. Amid the litter of abandoned enemy equipment on the roads south of Lyon were many hundreds of German bodies—men sacrificed in a desperate gamble to get some portion of the shattered 19th army back to Germany.

Pew of the Nazis streamlining northeastward out of Lyon appeared destined to reach the fatherland. Their escape route would lead them through the old French fortress city of Belfort near the northern Swiss frontier—160 long, hard miles from Lyon. An American armored column of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's northern invasion armies, dashing eastward from Paris to intercept the beaten enemy force, was last reported at Dzier, only 110 miles from Belfort.

What few Germans—if any—succeeded in running the gauntlet were due to reach Germany with little more than their personal baggage. They already had left behind thousands of motor and horsedrawn vehicles, and acres of guns and supplies strewn along the road marked the flight of what was left of a once-proud army.

If the escape roads out of Lyon were not crowded the credit was due to the terrible persistence of American troops. In addition to forcing the enemy into a hurried retreat which necessitated abandonment of the bulk of his artillery and other equipment, the Yanks incessantly hacked off and devoured additional chunks of the German force.

Allied warplanes took a continuous, bloody toll of the hapless enemy. Spitfire fighters around Lyon yesterday destroyed or damaged eight locomotives, 39 motor vehicles and 30 rail cars. French air force Thunderbolts destroyed six trucks and one tank car.

Lawrenceville, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP)—Flight Officer Jackie Coogan, former Hollywood movie star, reported today at George Field, near a troop carrier command, to begin duties as an instructor.

Coogan, a veteran of Burma fighting, came here from Stout Field, Indianapolis.

Hitler War Resources
Weakening Fast; Robot
Last Desperate Asset

BY EDWIN SHANKE

Stockholm, Aug. 28 (Delayed) (AP)—Hitler's official newspapers have revealed that the Nazis regard their flying bomb, "and other secret weapons to come," as their final bid for victory because they foresee German war resources weakening fast.

Discussing developments of weapons in this war, Voelkischer Beobachter declared the flying bomb opened the third phase in the war's technical advance.

"It bears the German imprint," the newspaper said. "It promises us final victory for there won't be a fourth phase. Strength of nations engaged in the toughest of warfare for five years won't last."

It certainly is true that German strength won't last much longer, especially because the Allies are freeing more of the territory which the Germans occupied and exploited to keep their war machine running. Evidence of Germany's strained economic and agricultural position is piling up daily.

Recently the Wehrmacht warned that German tanks take parts, instruments or raw materials from fallen Allied planes will be regarded as plunderers and saboteurs against the army, with a heavy punishment in store for them.

Railways, battered by incessant Allied air attacks, are struggling to keep Hitler's armies at all ends of Europe in supplies. Sunday passenger traffic has been cancelled and permission is required to travel further than 60 miles by rail. Parents are forbidden to visit their evacuated children.

The condition of rolling stock is so bad that German state railroads have been compelled to advertise daily for firms which can handle repairs. The press has been obliged to print warnings against "frivolous destruction," because the sabotage of porcelain insulators carrying telegraph wires along the railway right of ways has hampered and endangered traffic.

On two short stretches of track near Hamburg more than 1,000 of these insulators were destroyed in the last year.

The shortage of metals has grown so acute that a decree was published requiring the registration of all organ pipes, including those in churches, preparatory to confiscation.

Destruction of German synthetic petrol plants has reduced the Nazi fuel supply to a point where at

MINES ARE RUN
BY GOVERNMENTDrastic Action Is Taken
In Pennsylvania Strike
With 4,200 Idle

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The government reached into western Pennsylvania today and took possession of ten bituminous coal mines where a strike of supervisory employees newly-organized by the United Mine Workers has caused 4,200 persons to stop work.

President Roosevelt, on request of the War Labor Board, ordered the interior department to seize the properties of:

Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal company, Indiana, Pa., eight mines, 3,200 men.

Ford Collieries company, Curtisville, Pa., two mines, 1,000 men.

The Solid Fuels administration of the interior department announced that the mines will be open for work Monday morning and said "every man is expected to be back on the job."

The presidents of the two companies were appointed as operating managers under the American flag. There will be no outward change in operations. But the employees will be legally working for the government and anyone promoting a strike would be subject to prosecution under the Smith-Connally anti-strike law.

Undersecretary of the Interior Abe Fortas said the stoppage had cost the nation 200,000 tons of soft coal critically needed for steel manufacture.

Bulgaria Seals Off Frontier; Germans

Istanbul, Turkey, Aug. 31 (AP)—Bulgaria sealed the Turkish-Bulgarian frontier today. The closing of the border to all traffic was taken to mean that German diplomats awaiting exchange in Turkey, which recently severed diplomatic relations with Germany, would be unable to leave this country.

POLISH TROOPS
STORM PESAROOutpost Of Gothic Line
Falls; Foglia River
Crossed In Italy

BY GEORGE TUCKER

Rome, Aug. 31 (AP)—Polish troops in two days of fierce fighting with infantry and tanks have stormed and captured the German Adriatic stronghold of Pesaro, an outpost of the Gothic line, and with British help have forced crossings of the Foglia river along a 16-mile front inland from the sea. Allied headquarters announced today.

Nazi forces counterattacked strongly in an effort to drive the Poles from their foothold in Pesaro, but were repulsed with heavy losses. In just over two months the vengeful Polish corps has pushed 150 miles up the Adriatic coast, burying 2,500 Germans and capturing 3,170.

In smashing across the Foglia river the British and Poles reached points within 2,000 yards of the enemy's main Gothic line fortifications, into whose concrete casemates virtually all Nazi troops had been withdrawn. Allied combat patrols were reported probing into these defenses from just north of Pesaro to the bend of the Foglia above Urbino, about 16 miles inland. The Germans hold all high ground north of the river.

Gas Would Be Bad
Guess For Germany,
Military Men Say

London, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Allies with their air fleets could retaliate a hundred-fold against Germany if the Nazis should resort to gas warfare, military men declared tonight, but they added they thought it unlikely gas would be used in this war.

If Nazi extremists bent on ruling or ruining should employ gas against civilian populations in a bitter-end resistance, the Allies would be in a position through their air strength to drench German cities, one Briton in a high position observed.

If the Germans should use gas only on a limited scale, such as spreading blistering gases to hold up Allied troops, the Allies would be able to turn that into a bad battlefield bargain because of their mechanical and air superiority.

Recurrent rumors that the Germans are preparing to initiate gas warfare bring no official reaction here.

Duchess Doing Well,
Has No Ten Rooms

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Dr. Joe Clemmons of Roosevelt hospital said late today that the Duchess of Windsor was "entirely comfortable" after an appendectomy performed this morning.

The Duke, as he left the hospital escorted by a plainclothes patrolman and his chauffeur this afternoon, said:

"The Duchess is doing very well. Very well indeed, thank you. There was a report that she had 10 rooms. She hasn't any special treatment that any other patient hasn't got. She has one room and one nurse."

CAPITAL CITY OF BUCHAREST
WON BY REDSAIR AND RAIL BASE
TO AID ADVANCE
INTO HUNGARY

BY W. W. HERCHER

London, Friday, Sept. 1. (AP)—Red army tanks and motorized infantry rumbled into the broad avenues of the capitulated Romanian capital of Bucharest yesterday, winning a great rail-air base for an overland sweep into Hungary and southern Germany, and also reached the Bulgarian frontier in a 30-mile advance below the captured Black Sea port of Constanta.

The dusty Second Ukrainian army units under Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky, victor at Odessa, clattered into "the little Paris of the Balkans" after a 30-mile march southward from the burning Ploesti oil fields, wrested from the bitterly-resisting Germans Wednesday.

Other Soviet columns had turned northwest of Ploesti, chasing the retreating Germans nine miles beyond the great oil center along the roads leading across the Predeal Pass into Transylvania.

A 20-salute salute from 324 Moscow victory cannon marked the collapse of the Germans in Romania and the entry into Bucharest.

The parade of big Russian tanks and guns down the broad Calea Victoriei, Bucharest's main thoroughfare, came three years and six weeks after Romania made the fatal mistake of joining the Germans in their June, 1941, attack on Russia—a step that has cost the Romanians more than 300,000 men, either captured or who perished on the vast Russian steppes leading far back to Stalingrad.

For Malinovsky, who, as a sergeant in the first world war fought beside American troops in France, it was a great climax to a 12-day terrific offensive begun in the last sector, 200 air-line miles to the northeast. Beyond lie the roads into Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary and Germany. Belgrade, Yugoslav capital, is 375 miles west of Bucharest, and Marshal Tito's partisans are reported fighting on that area.

Cheers Greet Russians
On the fifth anniversary of the Nazi march into Poland, Sept. 1, 1939, another huge Soviet army had smashed to within nine miles northeast of Warsaw. Moscow's communique said, in a steady flanking movement on that capital.

Moscow said the Russian march through Bucharest was made without incident, and that though

The Roving Reporter

By ERNIE PYLE

IN PARIS (by wireless)—As we drove toward Paris from the south, hundreds of Parisians—refugees and returning vacationists—rode homeward on bicycles amidst the tanks and big guns.

Some Frenchmen have the facility for making all of us nervous. Nellies look ridiculous. There should be a nonchalant Frenchman in every war movie. He would be a sort of French Charlie Chaplin. You would have tense soldiers crouching in ditches and firing from behind low walls. And in the middle of it you would have this Frenchman, in faded blue overalls and beret and with a nearly burned-up cigarette in his mouth, come striding down the middle of the road past the soldiers. I've seen that very thing happen about four times since D-Day, and you never can see it without laughing.

Well, the crowds were out in Paris like that while the shooting was still going on. People on bicycles would stop with one foot on the pavement to watch the firing that was going on right in that block.

As the French Second Armored Division rolled into the city at dangerous speed, I noticed one tank commander, with goggles, smoking a cigar, and another soldier in a truck playing a flute for his own amusement. There also were a good many pet dogs riding into the battle on top of tanks and trucks.

Amidst this fantastic Parisward battle traffic were people pushing baby carriages full of belongings, walking with suitcases, and riding bicycles so heavily loaded with

Germans Swept
Out Of FranceYanks Leap Through Argonne Forest;
British Capture Amiens And Cut
Off Buzz-Bomb Coast

BY ERNEST AGNEW

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, Friday, Sept. 1. (AP)—American troops have crossed the Meuse River near the Ardennes forest on the Belgian frontier in a tidal offensive stabbing into the outskirts of the historic battle city of Sedan, and field dispatches early today said the Yanks were unlikely to collide with any major German resistance short of the famous Siegfried line, or west wall, on the German frontier itself 55 miles east of Sedan.

The Meuse apparently was crossed between Sedan—where the Germans broke into France in 1940—and Charleville, and hard-riding Yank armored units then fanned out against both towns just five miles from the Belgian border.

A rabble of disorganized Germans was melting in the path of the Americans—fleeing in an effort to get into Germany, field dispatches said.

Leaping in a single day through the Argonne Forest, where Gen. John J. Pershing's doughboys battled for six weeks, free-wheeling U. S. armored units may already have sprung the barrier of the Meuse, just south of Sedan.

Tanks Break Loose
Matching the speed of Lt. Gens. Courtney H. Hodges and George S. Patton, Jr., British tanks broke loose into the open plains of Picardy, and advancing 60 miles in two days captured the cathedral and industrial city of Amiens, where the "black day" defeat of the German army in 1918 induced Germans to make their first bid for peace.

From a strong bridgehead across the historic Somme at Amiens, Lt. Gen. Sir Richard Nugent O'Connor's armor plunged on 19 miles to Corbie, 55 miles from the Belgian border, and virtually sliced off half the German buzzbomb coast.

The Canadians, driving straight through Rouen, ticked off 16 miles to Buehy, only 17 miles south of Dieppe, and a third of the way across Le Havre peninsula.

COUPONS LIFTED
IN DETROIT OPAFive Clerks Suspended;
45,000 Gas Stamps
Are Missing

Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Detroit Office of Price Administration disclosed today 45,000 gasoline coupons are missing from offices of the city's largest ration board and that five clerks have been suspended pending investigation of the shortage.

The board employs 55 clerks and issues from 5,000 to 7,500 ration coupons of all sorts daily. The suspended clerks are those who had access to the missing B-4 and C-4 coupons.

Earl Fitzgerald, district OPA director, said the shortage, representing 225,000 gallons of gasoline, was discovered Aug. 18 after a series of coupons apparently lost in Chicago was returned here because the stamps bore Detroit serial numbers.

A check of the board failed to reveal any record of the book's having been issued here. Investigators then found nine pads of coupons were missing.

Fitzgerald said the missing coupons apparently are not being used in the Detroit area, because a check of used B-4 and C-4 stamps failed to turn up any with their serial numbers.

Two special investigators from the Cleveland region OPA office have arrived to assist Detroit and State Police in the inquiry.

The board from which the coupons are missing is the central mileage ration board, serving the Detroit downtown area and the city's industrial plants. It is one of the largest boards in the nation.

WORKING HOURS CUT

VICTORY OVER
REICH IN 1944
NOW ASSUREDEISENHOWER, ALLIED
CHIEF, CONFIDENT OF OUTCOME

BY JAMES M. LONG

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, August 31. (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower, bronzed and smiling, vowed anew tonight his confidence that victory over Germany was possible in 1944, attributed the Nazis' defeat in France to their land-greedy defense strategy, and announced a change in his staff setup.

The supreme commander said that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley, whose American armies are dashing head-long toward Belgium, had been made a full field commander of U. S. forces in northern France, a command post equal to that of British Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, whose promotion to the rank of field marshal was announced later in London. Montgomery commands the British and Canadian armies in northern France.

Eisenhower asserted the fight would be carried into Germany and he appeared convinced the Nazis were running out of manpower for their breached western defenses.

Underlining Eisenhower's words was a huge battlemap behind him blazoning with large red arrows indicating the latest Allied advances toward Belgium and the German border in an invasion which he declared was already fully five days ahead of schedule.

Siegfried Line Scored
Asked when he expected complete victory, the supreme commander said he would stand by his statement in Algiers just before he left for England to take over the invasion job. At that time he said Germany could be beaten in 1944 if everyone on the battlefield and at home did their duty.

The four-star general brought his Scotty pup with its four-star studded collar along to the press conference. This man, with the greatest weight of war responsibility any American general has ever had, was in high humor. Looking very boyish with his broad grin and twinkling eyes Eisenhower spoke to the men before him of utter destruction of the German military might.

He forcefully declared the battle must and would be carried home hard and decisively into the Reich, and he scorned the vaunted Siegfried line by not being able to remember its name.

Monty Close Friend
In announcing the new set-up in field command in France elevating Bradley to an equal footing with Montgomery, Eisenhower, with a ringing note of defiance in his voice, told press representatives, who sometimes seem critical that Montgomery and he were close and warm friends, that the British general was of the greatest soldiers of this or any war.

Turning to the progress of the Allied forces in France, the supreme commander predicted that if the American and British troops entered the low countries the Germans would probably be forced to pull out of Denmark and Norway.

Answering questions on the new command set-up, the supreme commander explained that he had regarded it as essential to have a single field commander with full responsibility until the breakthrough after the invasion, and that Mont-

HITLER WAR ASSETS NOW NEAR BOTTOM

The front gasoline "has become such an urgent need that not a single drop more than is really necessary may be used anywhere," the Essener National Zeitung said.

Clothes also have grown scarce. Children and war workers, provided they prove a real need, and bombed out persons can now obtain new clothes. Others have been requested to send their winter clothes to Belgium for patching.

A woman at Goettingen was sentenced to death because she coaxed her husband, who was collecting old clothes, to keep some before turning them over to the authorities.

But even more threatening than such worries is the growing danger of a food shortage, because Hitler is losing one after another of the granaries he depended on to keep his armies and his people fed.

The latest blow was the loss of Romania's wheat.

Nazi farm leaders are restrained on the whole about the harvest in Germany proper and, unlike previous years, are making no predictions that the food supply is secure.

In general, newspaper articles declare that German farmers will have to reduce losses by increasing the yield per acre, but by their own admission the Germans have reached the absolute limit of their vegetable oil acreage—600,000 hectares. At the same time they concede that milk deliveries this year are behind last year's.

The continued dropping of false ration cards by the Allies is further upsetting the German food economy and obliging heavier punishments, not only for the users but also for the storekeepers who sell the goods.

The Nazis are also attempting to counteract the gloomy food outlook with sharpened controls.

Special details have been assigned by Heinrich Himmler to break the black market. Heavier pressure has been exerted on producers not only to fulfill the quotas imposed on them but to exceed them.

Himmler has also taken steps to protect the harvest against fire and Allied raids. Within recent months reports from Germany said Allied aircraft have destroyed a great many canning factories in the Magdeburg area, causing a shortage of tinned goods for the army.

From July, 1943, to December, 1943, new cases of syphilis dropped from 290,000 to 245,000.

During 1943, 861,000 cases of syphilis and gonorrhea were reported in the United States.

Teacher Assignments Announced By Lemmer

Three positions in the Escanaba public schools remain to be filled but a substitute teacher has been temporarily secured for one of the vacancies, Supt. John A. Lemmer reported yesterday.

Vacancies exist in the oral deaf, ungraded and music departments and instructors are being sought for these positions. Mrs. Gertrude Land Hogander has agreed to substitute in the music department temporarily. It may be impossible to secure a teacher for the oral deaf department, the superintendent said, because most of the qualified instructors in this field are being utilized in army hospitals.

Virginia Corson, the new physical therapist in the Escanaba schools, has been called to the children's clinic at Marquette temporarily but will return to Escanaba within several weeks. The regular therapist at the clinic has been called to the lower peninsula to assist in the polio epidemic in that area.

Time Schedule

The time schedule for the various grades in the Escanaba public schools follows:

Kindergarten, 9:00 to 11:30 a. m.; 1:30 to 3:30 p. m.; grades one and two, 9:00 to 11:45 a. m.; 1:30 to 3:40 p. m.; grades three and four, 9:00 to 11:45 a. m.; 1:30 to 3:45 p. m.; grades five and six, 9:00 to 11:50 a. m.; 1:30 to 3:55 p. m.; junior high school, 8:30 a. m. to 11:26 a. m.; 1:00 to 3:56 p. m.; senior high school, 8:30 to 11:30 a. m.; 1:00 to 4:00 p. m.

Teacher assignments follow: Senior high school—Edward E. Edick, principal; Irma Bangs, English; Ruby Bilzel, physical education; Bernadette Brennan, English; R. P. Bowers, music; Elizabeth Delmore, Spanish, history; Edward Edick, advanced math; Charles Folio, government, history.

Chateau-Thierry Capture
Revives Memories Of World War I

Menominee—Capture of Chateau-Thierry, in the Aisne-Marne sector of France by American troops, confirmed today in official communiqués of the supreme Allied command, brought back memories to many a Menominee veteran of World War I, notably those who were members of Menominee's Company L, Michigan National Guard.

These memories were tinged with sorrow, since it was in the historic battle of Chateau-Thierry 26 years ago last July 31, that Menominee suffered its heaviest World War I losses in men killed and wounded. Of the 27 Menominee men killed in action and the five who died of wounds, the greater number made their sacrifices on July 31 and in the ensuing week. An additional 29 Menominee men died during World War I of disease or accident.

Throwing Menominee's Company L, which was a unit in the Thirty-Second (Red Arrow) Division into the Aisne-Marne offensive that the 1918 Allies launched to turn back the German army, was one of the quirk of fate that grew out of the exigencies of war. The division had spent several months in the comparatively quiet Alsace sector where, Company L vets declare, both the Germans and the Americans drank water from the same well in No Man's Land on Easter Sunday in 1918.

The division was being pulled out of the Alsace sector and was booked for duty in Russia as a labor battalion, of all things, when the Germans made their farthest western thrust into Chateau-Thierry and their Big Bertha was raining shells into Paris, 75 miles away.

Traveling north, the 32nd Division was thrown into the battle in an effort to stem the German tide and waged one of the most historic battles of the war, not only stopping the Germans but sending them reeling back. Only a little more than 90 days later, Germany sued for the armistice which, on November 11 at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. Menominee time) ended hostilities.

Company L was stationed on guard duty at the Chicago and North Western railway area docks in Escanaba for some time before it was sent overseas.

NAMED FIELD MARSHAL
London, Aug. 31 (AP)—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, whom many consider Britain's best general and who is certainly the nation's most spectacular field commander, tonight was appointed field marshal supernumerary by King George.

The announcement of the appointment, which will become effective tomorrow, came only a few hours after Gen. Eisenhower revealed that Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley had been given equal status with Montgomery as field commander of an army group. However, unofficial sources emphasized the Montgomery appointment had no connection with this and had been planned for some time as recognition for his "invaluable services to the empire."

Neither will the appointment involve precedence in the field, these sources said. Montgomery as field marshal will carry no more authority than Gen. Bradley.

Montgomery, whose rise in fame began at El Alamein on the western desert and who at present is commander of the 21st army group which broke the German Seventh army in northern France, becomes the 14th living British field marshal. Because army regulations specify there shall be only eight field marshals, he is officially listed as the latest of six supernumeraries who achieve full title when deaths create vacancies.

Other supernumerary field marshals are: Jan Christiaan Smuts, Sir Archibald P. Wavell, Sir John G. Dill, Sir Alan Francis Brooke and Lord Gort.

Field marshal appointments are bestowed either in recognition of highly meritorious services on the field of battle or solely as a compliment.

Large-scale venereal disease control was initiated for the first time during World War I.

Clare Luce Writes For Winchell, Stirs Democratic Solons

Washington, Aug. 31 (AP)—The president's recent trip to the Pacific, his scottie dog "Pala," and Rep. Clare Boothe Luce's guest columns for Walter Winchell came in for some spirited comment today in the house during a set-to between Democrats and Republicans.

Rep. Michael Bradley (D-Pa.) lashed out at the columns the Connecticut Republican has been writing as a pinch-hitter for vacationing Winchell.

He said they were "flippant and wise-cracking" and quoted one statement of Mrs. Luce that if these members of the house who dozed through debate on the surplus property bill "were laid end to end they would be more comfortable."

Members and the galleries chuckled and Bradley went on to say that Mrs. Luce's writings were "irresponsible and unreliable."

The gentlewoman through innuendo and insinuation attempts to convince the American people that the president of the United States is callous with regard to the welfare of the men who are fighting in the Pacific, and she quotes, or least she pretends to say that * * * "Admiral Nimitz urged the president not to go to Hawaii on the grounds that it would place a needless strain on the air force and naval personnel responsible for the president's safety, and would accomplish nothing militarily."

Bradley, a member of the naval committee, said he had it on high naval authority that the statement "is absolutely and unequivocally untrue."

Bradley said Mrs. Luce had the unique distinction of having sponsored the "only bill ever defeated unanimously" in the history of congress.

Germans Swept Out Of France

port that Sedan was almost reached, but latest accounts from the field said the Americans were sweeping on to the northeast from Rheims, Laon, Chalons and Vitry on a 90-mile front, unchecked and scarcely hindered by totally disorganized Germans.

The Americans were simply motoring along in their tanks and armored cars, occasionally encountering suicide squads, usually made up of a few riflemen and an anti-tank gun, at the cross roads. Patchy communications hindered the receipt of field dispatches, and even field commanders were reported idling at their headquarters for want of word from the fast-striking columns.

Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army was stabbing into the area of the Argonne Forest toward the Meuse River, front line dispatches said, where Gen. John J. Pershing's Americans fought in 1918.

American troops, it was announced, had stabbed north of Laon to within 30 miles of Belgium, northeast from Rheims and east into St. Dizier within 40 miles of the rear of the old Maginot line.

One front line report said the Americans were only 70 miles from the Siegfried line in Germany.

The Germans were being thrown completely out of France, buzz-bomb coast and all, and back into Belgium with such astonishing speed as to suggest that they were thinking only of defending their fatherland.

Defense Lines Lost
Already Field Marshal Gen. Guenther Von Kluge's Seventh army and newly-organized Fifth tank army have dragged down into decisive defeat the bulk of the 15th army with total enemy casualties of more than 400,000. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower announced. Twenty-five divisions, including five armored divisions, have been destroyed and 18 severely mauled, he said.

The Germans were pulling out so rapidly that the Americans in four days had swept over almost the full width of the bloody battlefields over which the Allies struggled four years in the first world war.

The enemy had lost the Somme and Marne lines of defense on which he might have made a stand, and along with them the Aisne, and he seemed on the point of losing the Oise.

The romp to Amiens astride the Somme by Lt. Gen. Richard Nugent O'Connor's British armor was through lightly-held country against only moderate resistance or none at all.

First Canadian infantry meanwhile pushed into Rouen on the lower Seine and without waiting to mop up that strong point of snipers began driving west around and beyond the city for the purpose of cleaning up scattered elements in the by-passed Le Havre peninsula.

Liquor Commission Position Retained By Gladstone Man

Lansing, Aug. 31 (AP)—John F. Richardson of Gladstone, cancelling his resignation as secretary of the State Liquor Control Commission, agreed today to retain that position.

The commission said Richardson agreed to remain at its urging. He had resigned after Governor Kelly rejected the commission's plans to have him direct all liquor purchasing.

Richardson formerly was finance director of the commission, and declared this summer he was disgraced with certain commission administrative policies. He was understood to refer to Kelly's demand that Brig. Gen. Louis A. Kunz, new general manager, have charge of all commission administrative functions.

Jack Mihalic Dies At Home In Wells

Jack Mihalic, one-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Mihalic of No. 15 Highland avenue, Wells, died at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning at the family home. The baby had been ill for three weeks, suffering from pneumonia.

The body was taken to the Allo funeral home where it will be in state this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Alphonsus, O. F. M., will conduct services at the funeral home chapel at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Surviving are the parents, the following brothers and sisters: John, who is with the armed forces in the South Pacific, and Anna, Nicholas, Margaret, Bernice and George, at home; and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Zophie Grosich, of Wells.

CAN USE 500 MEN IN WOODS

Shortage Of Woodsmen Still Greatest Problem

Timber workers are urgently needed to produce raw materials of war, the U. S. employment office announced Thursday. "The shortage of labor in the woods still is the greatest problem the lumbering industry has to face in meeting the demands for timber products of all kinds."

At least 500 men can be placed in woods employment in this area, which includes Delta, Schoolcraft and the northern half of Menominee counties. This essential industry, which commands the number one priority in this section, has been short-handed for the last three years, it was stated.

Farmer Can Help
One prime source of labor is the farmer who will soon have his crops laid up for the year. Some of them have woodlots and can work in them. Others can help produce these critical materials by helping their neighbors or going to work in sawmills or in the woods for the larger timber operators.

Everything going to the battle fronts of the world uses wood in some form. Even all metal equipment uses wood for crating or shipping purposes. Ships, tanks, hospitals, bridges, food, clothing, ammunition, guns—all require wood in their construction, packing, or for bracing in the hold of some ship while on its way overseas. Of particular importance this year is the huge need for paper and wooden boxes, crates, and other types of containers of wood and paper. Over half the paper and lumber that will be produced in 1944 will be used to package and ship supplies to the armed forces of the world.

It was emphasized that every day a farmer can spend producing raw wood materials will help tremendously. Even a few hours a week will do much to cut down on the existing shortage of sawlogs, pulpwood, and the numerous other types of wood crops. Every one of the thousands of farmers in each state can do his bit on the lumbering front.

Opportunities to produce sawlogs, pulpwood, and allied timber products exist everywhere in the woodland and forest areas. County agents and the U. S. employment service can furnish information or arrange to place interested farmers.

Elks Appoint Duda As District Deputy

Frank R. Duda of Bessemer has been commissioned district deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of Michigan North, which comprises the entire Upper Peninsula. The appointment is until July, 1945.

Mr. Duda was a charter member of the original Elks Lodge 1278 in Ironwood and in 1917 was one of the men instrumental in promoting Bessemer Lodge 1364. He held the position of secretary until 1928 when he was elected exalted ruler, a position he held until 1929 when he was again elected secretary. He served as secretary until 1936 when press of business affairs forced him to retire. He became secretary again in 1938 and has held the position since that time.

A collector of antiques and historical objects, Mr. Duda has one of the largest collections in the Northwest. His latest acquisition is a facsimile of the liquor license issued to Abraham Lincoln on March 6, 1833.

DROUGHT THAT HIT DELTA county during the summer growing season is indicated in its effect on field and stream. At the Eugene Charles farm (top) in Escanaba township Clarence Charles, his son, halts the digging of early Irish Candler potatoes to point out the blackened vines. Drought and leaf hopper have taken their toll, will cut the yield to about 150 bushels to the acre, or about one-half the harvest in previous years, Charles said. Leaf hopper was more prevalent in the county than in many years because of the long dry spell, and on the Charles farm a 10-acre field of buckwheat that had started out well was made a total loss by the drought. The lack of rainfall is indicated (bottom) by the trickle of water down the bed of Rapid River, usually much higher at this season of the year. The Flat Rock area of the county was hard hit by drought. At the William Taylor farm a well used to supply water for seven head of cattle was nearly dry. At the Flat Rock Dairy it was reported that the amount of milk being received had fallen off about one-third from 28,000 to about 18,000 pounds daily. (Daily Press Photo.)

4-H Club Garden, Canning Exhibits Are Outstanding

After viewing and judging garden and canning club exhibits yesterday at the annual Delta county 4-H Club achievement day, Orville Walker, Marquette, assistant state 4-H Club leader, said the exhibits were outstanding and showed considerable improvement over last year.

One reason for the better quality of the garden club displays was the earlier date of the achievement day, which brought many garden products into the exhibit which were not there in past years. The club exhibits were arranged on long tables in the Senior high school gymnasium. The judging was done by Walker and Miss Helen Noyes of Michigan State college extension service.

More than 100 boys and girls, and the club leaders, attended the achievement day program, which had been arranged by Earl Willette, emergency food production and preservation assistant.

The program was presented in the high school auditorium and included talks by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, Miss Noyes, Walker, Paul Vardigan, and demonstrations by 4-Club members.

4-H Club members appearing on the program were Arlene Rheame of Bark River, Gloria Larson and Catherine Dawson of Danforth, Donald Harris of North Delta, Rita Paquin and Richard Barron of Flat Rock. A moving picture was presented by the Michigan Conservation Department.

Following the program the club members had dinner downtown and attended the theater.

The county and local 4-H Club honor members, and the placings in the exhibits for yesterday's achievement day are as follows:

News From Men In The Service

Edmund Stevens, whose wife resides at 1515 Ludington street, is preparing for duty with the amphibious forces aboard an LST, landing ship.

Stevens has been assigned to the crew of an LST at the amphibious training base, Camp Bradford, Va., where he is going through the strenuous training required of bluejackets who man the beach-hitting tank carriers.

Heavier than a modern destroyer, the 300-foot LST lands assault troops and equipment directly on to enemy beachheads, under the protective bombardment of heavy warships and navy planes. Despite its size and weight, the landing vessel is designed to navigate shallow approaches to hostile beaches, spilling its troops and tanks ashore through huge bow doors.

Pfc. Gilbert A. Helgemo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Helgemo, of Danforth, Route One, has been transferred from Ireland to France. He has been in the service for a year and a half and has been overseas since last November.

DeGraff To Reopen Resort After War

Marquette, Mich.—Those visitors who in past years have made the Birchwood resort, near Trout Lake, Mich., their headquarters for Upper Peninsula vacations will find good news in a letter received here by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau from Lieut. Phil DeGraff, owner of the resort, who said he will reopen the Birchwood resort "as soon as Uncle Sam releases me."

Lieut. DeGraff is mess caterer aboard the USS Iowa. He said in his letter that Birchwood has been "dolled up" through the planting of plenty of evergreens, landscaping, and the removal of some old unsightly buildings.

Bradley Moves Up

WHILE these difficulties are usually ironed out before they become too serious, jealousy, or whatever you may term it, of England's military brass hats, is continually developing embarrassing situations.

Just now the elevation of Lieut. Gen. Omar N. Bradley to rank comparable with that of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, commander of British-Canadian forces in France, has raised a storm of protest from the English press. It has been repeatedly explained and thoroughly understood by British military authorities, that the incident is intended as no reflection upon General Montgomery, and was a part of General Eisenhower's original plan, to raise leaders of American commands to the full status of British commands, when a breakthrough had been perfected and General Eisenhower, commander of all Allied forces was able to move his headquarters to France. That has now been accomplished and, incidentally, if any leader of American forces in any theater of the war deserved promotion it was this same General Bradley.

He went into World War II, as far as the public was concerned, an unknown. Press readers may remember that it was Ernie Pyle, who, early in the war, called General Bradley the G. I. Joe's ideal leader and paid such repeated compliments to his leadership and popularity with his troops, and it may have been Pyle sponsorship that brought swift advancement. So, in spite of any British feeling about the matter, honors have come to General Bradley that have been fully earned.

Then there is also the undisputable fact that America's armed forces in this war have proven themselves the greatest fighting force ever to engage in any war, in all the history of the world.

The petty jealousies of British brass hats, at this distance, seem too much like to sour grapes to affect the morale of either America's home forces or that of our fighting forces, on all the battle fronts of the world.

Much Good Advice

WHEN peace returns, the Upper Peninsula probably will experience a decline in mining and other industrial activity from the peak levels attained during this war. Then, there again will be a revival of interest in the tourist industry, which was beginning to unfold its possibilities in the pre-war decade.

What should be done in the postwar era to take advantage of our recreational opportunities has been well answered in a list of suggestions made by Upper Peninsula tourists in a poll conducted by the Development Bureau.

Here are some of the suggestions:
Standardization of resort rates.
More travel information.
Lack of boat facilities.
Insects must be eliminated.
Improvement of bathing beaches.
Clean-up campaign to improve appearance of towns.

More modern conveniences in cabins.
Improved beaches on inland lakes for swimming.
Provide uniform signs in all counties for marking highways.

Better railroad transportation facilities.
Keep lakes and streams well stocked.
Better places for good cats.
Improve black-top roads.

Do not open too many side roads, it makes fishing too accessible.
Inspection of tourist cabins.
More quality hotels.

Promote more comforts in resorts.
More extensive boat service from Chicago.
Greater protection for game.

Open up shoreline between Cedarville and Hessel bay.
Hessel bay, and Hessel bay, dends.

Extend electric lines to resort areas.
Bigger and better cabins.
Michigan should have more places for amusement.

Better facilities for obtaining food on Mackinac Island.
Improved transportation facilities.
Eliminate roadside signs.
Better roads.

Better side roads and more information as to where they go.
Lack of guide service.
Adequate airfield facilities.

More improved tourist accommodations.
Elimination of dust.
Too much consumption of alcoholic beverages where people come for rest.

Avoid ruin of natural settings for tourist cabins.
More supervision of night cabins.
Plant more northern pike.

Complete electrification of resorts.
Advertise the country thru medical journals as offering relief to those who suffer from asthma and hay fever.
Pave highway 135.

Avoid cutting forests near highways.
Maintain lake levels by proper use of dams.
Better sanitary conditions in hotels and cottages.

Build larger hotels and advertise them.
A well equipped, fast excursion train leaving Chicago each Friday afternoon in the summertime.
Uncontaminated bathing beaches.
Make Michigan attractive to young people.

Reinstate your reforestation program.
Develop and advertise your winter sports and hunting seasons.
Cheaper electric power for tourists.
Better program for the propagation of fish.

Complete the construction of the bridge across the Straits of Mackinac.
Leave the U. P. as it is in its natural state.

The above are constructive criticisms from outsiders, and should be taken to heart by Upper Peninsula communities. They constitute a program that should be seriously considered as soon as conditions permit the expansion and improvement of facilities for the accommodation and entertainment of the postwar tourists.

Hitler Is Desperate

HITLER's robot attacks on England are the efforts of a desperate man to stave off defeat by the Allied armies now marching toward Germany, and there is now the alarming prospect that he might resort to the much dreaded poison gas.

Reports from Europe indicate that poison gas cylinders have been moved to the coastal area opposite England, while Polish patriots claim they captured some of the grenades from Germans fighting in Warsaw.

Since the Allies now have aerial superiority, it has been felt that the Nazis would not resort to the use of gas, since they would be only invited similar attacks on a greatly increased scale. Our planes could spread gas all over Germany once this type of warfare were started by Hitler.

Hitler is aware of this fact, of course, but apparently he is determined that if he goes down to defeat he will bring catastrophe upon everyone else at the same time.

Grave Prediction

A LIFE insurance company has made the sobering prediction that the first year of peacetime auto travel may produce a warlike toll of 50,000 fatalities. It cites the pent-up desire for travel; the many ex-servicemen, with a contempt for danger, as drivers; and, most important, the bad condition of many over-age cars that will still be in use.

Suggested remedies are rigid tests and inspections, tightened driver's license requirements, and re-education in traffic safety. Certainly every community should start making all possible preparations to avert such a tragic and very possible future.

WHOLE BLOOD BY AIR (Marquette Mining Journal)

At the outbreak of war there was no practical method of shipping whole blood to the battlefield. This week the American Red Cross sent the first 500-pint lot of whole blood to Europe by air.

The progress thus recorded is of the highest medical importance. Plasma, the liquid portion of blood left after the red and white cells have been removed, has its limitations. In cases of shock it meets the need of the moment so well as to assure that 97 per cent of every 100 wounded men will reach a hospital behind the lines. But when there has been excessive bleeding only whole blood will meet the demands of the cases. Volunteers at the front now will be at least partly relieved of an obligation which should be met at home. New duties and new responsibilities will have to be assumed by the men and women of the Red Cross who collect blood. If the demand has been larger in the past, because of the demand for plasma, it will now mount still higher.

The great advances in transfusion were made largely under the pressure of war. During the last war Drs. Peyton Rous and O. H. Robertson established the first experimental blood bank at the front. In the Spanish civil war its importance was shown on a large scale. Though much research was conducted here, it was not until four years ago that we established blood banks and improved the technique of collecting and processing. The Russians have been the trail-blazers. Their Prof. S. S. Yudin must be thanked for much of the progress made.

HANDBOOK OF PRACTICAL ENGLISH

Q. We are undecided as to the correctness of such expressions as, "I am writing you a letter; I am forwarding you a money order," etc. Will you please discuss?

A. Such expressions are common in colloquial usage. But, in serious writing and speech, the preposition "to" is desirable, as: "I am writing to you a letter; I am forwarding to you a money order."

Obviously, one cannot write or forward "you," any more than one can listen "you" or talk "you." Rearranging the sentence will show that "to" is necessary:

I am writing a letter—to you.
I am forwarding a money order—to you.

Q. Can you do something about the misuse of the word personnel? Here are three horrible examples from a bulletin in a war plant. (1) We need two personnel to operate a hoist. (2) The information must be available to these personnel (3)

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

The liberation of the Swiss frontier will not only offer several incidental military, political and economic advantages to the Allies, but it reminds us, once more, of the question whether we shall be able to afford, in the world to come, the luxury of a neutral nation.

Switzerland has for centuries been the great asylum among nations. The poets have it that its mountains nourished liberty and, thus, nourished, its liberty-loving people protected the fugitive oppressed of the world. Maybe so, but I have no way of proving such a romantic origin of liberty. The thing that is clear is that Swiss liberty could have been terminated many times in the past couple of centuries, but it always seemed more advantageous to Switzerland's neighbors to maintain her neutrality.

Switzerland was more useful to warring neighbors as an asylum than as a highway. She came near being the high-road to France in 1910, when German armies stood on her borders ready to move. But the quick collapse of France saved the Swiss once more.

—KAISER'S ESCAPE RECALLED—

The historical neutrality of the Swiss has had much to do with the development of the legal idea of asylum. It is noteworthy that the so-called right of an individual to claim protection in a neutral state has no standing in international law. What happens is that a neutral state, because it is sovereign in its own territory, may, if it wishes, receive and hold fugitives and, also, money and valuables. The thrifty Swiss, it may be observed, turned many an honest franc that way.

Free and powerful nations have always been hesitant about denying small nations the right to offer asylum. For to do that, even in the case of dangerous enemy individuals, would bring into question the long and honorable records of nations in shielding political fugitives. Fresh in the memories of most of us is the story of how, after hot threats to hang the Kaiser, British statesmen changed their minds. After William escaped to Holland. The memory of hundreds of political refugees, good and bad, whose protection had been a bright page in the history of English liberty, stayed the hand of vengeance. It is a principle behind English law that it is better to let a guilty man escape, than to violate the law that protects the innocent.

—NEUTRALITY NEEDS REVISION—

The proposition that must be faced after this war is whether Switzerland or Sweden or the Argentine will be permitted to shield the persons or property of those who, in Germany, Japan or Italy, precipitated this war or were responsible for its barbarities. Can Hitler be permitted to hide behind the principle of asylum which came into being, in the past, to protect great heroes? Will Goering be permitted to return to Sweden? (His asylum there was a real one, with padded cells and everything.)

The Swiss have, to a degree, anticipated this question by recent amendments to their immigration laws to keep out politically dangerous immigrants. But the test will come when the United Nations face the issue of whether they or the neutrals have the right to decide what Nazis or Japs are dangerous.

Certainly the idea of neutrality will have to be seriously overhauled in the years to come. There can be little safety in any country when bandits, disguised as political leaders, can rise to power, provoke war and then escape to neutral territory to plan other wars. If war is to be prevented, a means must be found to retain the principle of asylum for genuine political dissenters while, at the same time, no refuge is permitted to exist for the criminals who presided over Germany and Japan in this war. The history of Switzerland suggests that it will not be easy to find a way of making that distinction.

Personnel purchasing hot lunches must enter by door 2.

A. Only in an extremely limited sense does personnel mean "employees." It is a collective noun designating the entire body of persons employed or engaged in a given undertaking, as: the personnel of the U. S. Army; the personnel of the battleship; the personnel of the accounting department. The word is always used with a singular verb, as: The personnel is composed of both men and women.

Q. Is this form of address correct: Mr. John Doe, Esquire?

A. No. With "Mr." no other title is used. Do not write, "Mr. John Doe, Manager; Mr. John Doe, M. D.; Mr. John Doe, Senator. Correct: John Doe, Esquire; Manager John Doe; Dr. John Doe; Senator John Doe. Incidentally, "Esquire" is a meaningless title in America. Why use it?

TROYES, strategic city and junction point on the Seine southeast of Paris. Caution. The radio pronunciation "Troy-YAY" has no sanction. Troyes is pronounced exactly like the French word "trois." It has one syllable only. Say: trwah.

REIMS, manufacturing city northeast of Paris. The vowel sound is flat "a" of "man" strongly nasalized. The "m" is not pronounced. The "s" is as in "mass." Say: ra(n)-ss.

ILULI MANIU (sometimes spelled "Juliu"), leader of Rumanian peasant party. Say: YOO-foe MAHN-yoo.

GALATI, Rumanian city on left bank of the Danube. Caution. The final "i" is not a vowel; do not pronounce it. Both "a's" are flat. Say: GA-lahs.

The German spelling is Galatz, pronounced: GAB-lahss.

OUR COUNTY PARKS—Delta county owns six county parks totaling 471 acres in area—and appropriates $400 a year for the maintenance of this big public playground.

This statement is not made in criticism of the county board of supervisors. It is made simply to direct attention to the need for additional funds to adequately maintain the parks. The county has a deficit in its general fund, and it would be unwise at this time for the county board to make larger park appropriations. But there is the future to consider, and it is this consideration which should receive the attention of the supervisors.

For even though no additional funds are available, the board would be overlooking a postwar park improvement opportunity if it failed to consider now the future of those six county parks. The supervisors will not be surprised to know that by and large the public is not satisfied with the present maintenance of the parks. It will be less satisfied if, as the years go by and the postwar period brings larger park attendance, the maintenance does not improve.

MOST IMPORTANT—An inquiry brought from J. T. Sharpsteen, county highway engineer-manager, the following information on the county parks, with the parks listed according to their importance:

1—Pioneer Trail Park, located on US-241-M-35 halfway between Escanaba and Gladstone along the Escanaba river. The 98-acre area contains considerable virgin timber. It is supplied with toilets, water, tables, some stoves and occasionally firewood.

2—O. B. Fuller Park, 94 acres, located on M-35 about 15 miles south of Escanaba on Bark River at the bay shore. There is water, tables, stoves, toilets. The land is timbered.

3—Dutch Mill Park, 40 acres, located five miles north of Rapid River, at Rapid River Falls, and just off US-41.

4—Fish Dam Park, 166 acres, well timbered, developed area on old US-2 and now seldom used because of the relocation of US-2 nearer the shore of Big Bay de Noc.

5—Sac Bay Park, 64 acres, undeveloped. It is located on the shore of Sac Bay, Garden Peninsula, near Fairport. The future may bring increased tourist trade to Garden Peninsula, and the Sac Bay county park will then be important.

6—Brampton Park, nine acres, located on M-35 two miles south of Brampton. It is seldom used.

THERE IS NEED—The list shows Pioneer Trail Park to be most important of all from the standpoint of public use. Located on the highway that carries more traffic than any other in the Upper Peninsula, it has a bright future as an outstanding tourist and recreation area.

In these war years when the people of Gladstone, Escanaba and the county are unable to travel far, Pioneer Trail Park has been extensively used. But in the post-war period it will receive not only local patronage, it will be host to thousands of tourists.

Even today there is need for better maintenance of Pioneer Trail Park. The $400 the county appropriates for all the county parks could be spent there alone and would still not be enough. The tables and stoves are in a state of disrepair, while the toilets leave considerable to be desired. There should be a full-time caretaker there, but now it is possible only to have a man there on Sundays and holidays.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Congressman Prentiss M. Brown will be the guest speaker at the Labor Day picnic. Also on the program will be Mayor Carl J. Sawyer and A. E. Radford, labor organizer in the lower peninsula auto plants.

Miss Florence Gregory was honored guest at a bridal shower given for her at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Gregory.

Miss Helen Olson left last night for Washington, D. C. after visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Olson.

Mrs. W. V. Leppla and daughter, Helen, have returned from a week's visit in Chicago.

20 Years Ago—1924

The Prince of Wales witnessed a polo match between British and American International teams without being noticed at all. The huge crowd were unaware that the Prince was in their midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jepson motored to Danforth for the day yesterday.

Miss Loretta Trudell is visiting with friends and relatives in Ishpeming.

25 Years Ago—1919

A son has been born to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Feldhausen. Mrs. Feldhausen is the former Carrie Priester.

Miss Katherine Burns spent Sunday and Monday visiting with relatives in Iron River.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Dufour and Victor Pillion returned from a motor trip to Chicago and other points.

Miss Gertrude Sheahan has returned to Milwaukee after visiting friends here.

ty road commission administers the county park program. In the past it has been necessary to expend county road funds on park maintenance, although every effort is made to keep within the $400 park appropriation. In the future, with increased travel and greater use of the parks, the appropriation will be still more inadequate.

There were pre-war days when between 4,000 and 5,000 persons visited Pioneer Trail, some to stay for several hours, some for all day. There was a demand then, and there is the need now and for the future, for a shelter house large enough to accommodate up to 1,000 persons in event of a rainstorm.

Such a shelter house was considered back in the days of WPA, but the project never came to a head. Now with the accent on postwar planning, it is one which the county might very well include for consideration. If application is made before Nov. 1 to the state planning commission, and is approved, the state would pay one-half the cost of preparing plans for such a project.

With plans ready, financing might be aided by state and federal funds. Without plans the opportunity will be lost.

FULL-TIME JOB—Pioneer Trail Park also needs a full-time caretaker, both for the protection of the park property, to maintain order, and to oversee the park generally from about July 1 to past Labor Day.

Because of the fire hazard no overnight camping is permitted in the park now. But with a caretaker some section of the park might, in the postwar period, be opened to the trailer and tent tourist, perhaps with a nominal charge made for accommodations. Such a trailer park site in a secluded section of the big park would be the answer to a problem which has been discussed many times.

In any event, Delta county's parks should receive more than routine consideration by the board of supervisors—and more than $400 a year for their maintenance.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—Most important college of amateur physicians anywhere in the world, approximately 200 strong, now meets Tuesdays and Fridays at the White House. . . . These are newsmen assigned to cover the President. They assemble, make careful scrutiny, write lengthy analyses of the President's complexion, nervousness, every facial expression; try to interpret these in relation to his health. . . .

Actually the President looks thinner, not too well tanned, but calm and fit, though he shows obvious sign of wearying at the scores of question thrown at him during press tussles. . . . FDR still knows how to turn charm on and off, calls newsmen by their first names, teases them about "dope stories" . . .

Since his return from the Alaska trip, Roosevelt is seeing more people than in the last six months, is growing more aware of domestic issues, though he would like to keep aloof from politics.

Henry Wallace—still the Vice President—has just returned from a very unusual trip through the South, almost unpublishable, but with a definite political aim. . . . Wallace is already laying groundwork for 1948, has mended fences with bankers, businessmen, educators and editors in Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana and Texas. . . . He called on delegates who voted for him, was the house guest of Mayor Wilson Wyatt in Louisville, Mayor Tom Miller in Austin, spent a week-end at the home of Georgia's Governor Arnall. . . . Wallace told one and all that the big job of liberals and Democrats was re-election of Roosevelt.

In Austin, Texas, Wallace learned that Governor Coke Stevenson gets up at 5:30 every morning, brews his own coffee in the kitchen. Next morning, Wallace and portly political adviser Harold Young showed up at the Governor's mansion at 5:30 a. m., found the Governor was sleeping late. At 6 a. m. Stevenson came down. . . . Wallace and Young traveled all night by plane from Austin to Louisville, arrived haggard and weary at 6 a. m., went to Mayor Wyatt's home. . . . Wallace ducked upstairs, dozed for three hours, leaving Young to handle newsmen and callers while Mrs. Wyatt kept Young awake with large cups of coffee. . . . Later, press stories commented on how fit Wallace looked, while his aide "Harold Young couldn't take it" . . . Wallace, who prides himself on wearing out traveling companions, added these clippings to his scrap-book.

Dumbarton Oaks—Secretary Hull's message to the opening Dumbarton Oaks peace parley had whole paragraphs paralleling Woodrow Wilson's statement of Jan. 16th, 1920, on the eve of the first League of Nations Council meeting. . . . "It is our task here," Hull said, "to help lay the foundations upon which, after victory, peace, freedom and a growing prosperity may be built for generations to come." . . . Twenty-four years ago, Wilson said: "It will bring the League of Nations into being as a living force devoted to the task of assisting the peoples of all countries in their desire for peace, prosperity and happiness."

Peace Talks—While the Russians don't attach too much importance to Dumbarton Oaks, Stalin thought enough of the meeting to send his personal interpreter along with the delegation. . . . John Foster Dulles, Dewey's foreign affairs adviser, brought Dewey's personal publicist, Jim Hagerty, to Washington with him. . . . Cracked one newsmen on greeting Hagerty: "You weren't due here until Jan. 20th." . . . Replied Hagerty: "I'm here to ease the joint." . . . Folks who tried to pin Dulles down on the question of the secrecy surrounding Dumbarton Oaks conferences caught Dewey's adviser in a trap. . . . Dulles tried to condemn secrecy to newsmen, but was reluctant to be quoted on the question.

Isolationist Toboggan—Judging by the telegrams and phone calls colleagues are getting from Nevada's Senator Pat McCarran, he is racing against political death. He has been frantically calling Senators, some of whom vigorously disagree with him, imploring them to endorse him for re-election. . . . This is nationally significant. It indicates a complete reversal of his position six years ago, when he belittled that his renomination was purely a State matter and pulled all sorts of wires to keep Administration forces out. Now, like fellow-isolationist Bennett Clark in Missouri, he has suddenly clutched FDR's coat-tails. . . . Running against McCarran is dynamic Lieutenant Governor Vail Pittman, Nevada newspaper publisher and younger brother of the late Senator Key Pittman. As chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the elder Pittman was the leading advocate of stopping the Jap war lords by economic measures, way back in 1936, before it got too late. . . . Younger brother Vail is like him. . . . McCarran was a leading Senate isolationist, played into Hitler's hands along with Wheeler, Nye, Clark. . . . The world will be watching Nevada in the September primary to see whether the Far West is isolationist.

With more women in politics than ever you'd be surprised at some of the hats tossed into the ring.

America, England, Russia, China—we're hoping that quartet can produce world harmony.

The man who coined the expression "dirt cheap" should have lived so long as to talk to a real estate operator now.

Now that the girls are driving taxis shouldn't we revise that old saw about death and taxes?

SCHOOL'S ROLE IN YOUTH TOLD

Dr. Havighurst Outlines
Necessary Educational Standards

The role of schools in the development of youth was the subject of an interesting lecture, "Growing Up in America," presented by Dr. Robert J. Havighurst, professor of education at the University of Chicago, at the pre-school conference of Escanaba and Gladstone teachers yesterday morning at the junior high school.

As a preface to his lecture, Dr. Havighurst read brief autobiographies written by an Indian boy in the southwest and a girl of similar age in Chicago. The lives and the anticipated future of the two youngsters revealed marked contrast and Dr. Havighurst used this illustration to show the broadness of the educational program that is required to fit all of the needs of the people.

The speaker declared that there are two opposite viewpoints concerning educational standards. One, he said, is the belief that schools should teach the "three R's," reading, 'riting and 'rithmetic, and elaborate on these and similar fundamentals to meet the desires of the individual. The other is the belief that schools should educate youngsters for the development of society, submerging the individual personalities for the benefit of the society.

Dr. Havighurst expressed his opinion that the best educational program is one that combines both of these objectives.

The noted educator reported that schools must be prepared to assist youth in accomplishing what Dr. Havighurst termed "developmental tasks." He explained that these represented normal processes of development in given age periods and emphasized the importance of youths accomplishing these developmental tasks within prescribed periods of their lives. Some of these developmental tasks are ability to walk and talk by pre-school youngsters, ability to get along with children of similar age groups, the acquisition of emotional independence, the selection and preparation for vocations for older age youth.

Railway Anti-Trust Suit To Cause Much Trouble

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—No more inflammable fat could be thrown on the political fire than the anti-trust suit filed by the Department of Justice the other day against the American association of railroads and the Western association of railway executives.

Childs

It cuts back into America's past when the railroads were the "interests," denounced by politicians from the plains states and attacked by every grass roots radical movement. In recent years, with the decline of the railroads under pressure of new competition, the political sting has been somewhat drawn. Moreover, the Interstate Commerce Commission was supposed to have made everything nice and legal.

ICC Not Involved

Contrary to what many critics have assumed, the new suit has nothing to do with rate-making by the ICC. Officials in the Department of Justice say their investigators were first to discover the western agreement which is the nub of the charge against the roads. It had never been filed with the ICC, as the law requires.

Ten days after an anti-trust investigator got on the trail of the agreement, the Western railroads, filed it with the ICC. Four days later they announced it was cancelled. There seems to be considerable doubt whether under any circumstances the ICC could have approved the agreement, since it tended to take the rate-making function away from the commission.

On the basis of the agreement, the Anti-Trust Division wanted to bring a criminal anti-trust charge. They were prevented from doing that by the War and Navy Departments, which have the veto power in anti-trust cases that appear likely to impede the war effort. This last was a point won by Under-Secretary of War Robert Patterson when he challenged a number of suits brought by Thurman Arnold, who later resigned as official trust-buster to become a federal judge.

An appeal is possible, however, to the White House, and it was the White House that approved a civil suit against the railroads. In five instances, out of 33 suits stopped by the military, the president has finally given the go sign for court action.

What gives this a political look is the fact that it comes on the eve of a national campaign, with freight rate discrimination an acute issue in the south and the west. While the western agreement was unearthed a year ago, Anti-Trust officials say the suit could not have been brought earlier and cannot be tried for at least six months.

Out of the files of the ICC, Democratic campaign planners have taken a statement made by Governor Dewey in March of 1943. They will use that statement against Dewey in the areas where dissatisfaction with rates is greatest.

Press Contest End Is Monday, Angler Must Hurry Entry

The answer to the question "Who caught the biggest fish from the waters of Upper Michigan this summer?" will be given in a short time now for the end of the eight annual Daily Press Fishing Contest is in sight. The contest comes to a close on Labor Day.

All entries in the contest must be postmarked not later than Monday, September 4, in order to be considered in the naming of the winners in the various classes. The Labor Day week end is the last chance for the fisherman who has located the hangout of some big fellow who has resisted lures for years. He has to come in within the next few days in order to count.

Any fish legally caught in Upper Michigan waters this summer can be entered. There are no entry fees and no obligation of any kind other than appears on the fishing contest blanks, which may be secured on request from the Outdoors Editor of this paper. The purpose of the contest is to discover the biggest fish in each class caught during the summer in Upper Peninsula waters, to stimulate interest in outdoor hunting and encourage good sportsmanship.

Judging of the contest will take place as soon after Labor Day as sufficient time has elapsed for all entries postmarked September 4 to reach the contest editor.

KENOSHA MAN HEADS KIWANIS

Atty. Walter Hammond
Elected District
Governor

Madison (AP)—Walter W. Hammond, Kenosha attorney, was elected governor of the Wisconsin-Kiwanis International at the closing session of the 26th annual convention.

Hammond, a former district lieutenant governor, succeeds Ben G. Elliott of Madison.

Frank J. Horak of Oconto, was re-elected district treasurer and 12 new divisional lieutenant governors were named. The latter are George S. Berry, Whitewater, southern; Gilmore, Galbraith, Burlington, southeastern; Harold Phipps, Wauwatosa; Milwaukee; Harry Conlon, Green Bay, northern; Casey C. Wiggins, Marquette, Mich., northern; Earl Luther, Plymouth, eastern; Ing. O. Hembre, Barron, northwestern; Clemens Lueck, Ripon, central; Herbert Turner, Portage, south-central; Harold LaRonge, Viroqua, western; Hubert Karmann, Wausau, north-central; Milton Melcher, Platteville, southwestern.

The convention adopted a resolution urging support of an expanded welfare program providing needed improvements at various state institutions. John M. McHale of Green Bay, vice chairman of the state board of public welfare, had requested yesterday that Kiwanis clubs do something to help inmates of public institutions.

MAIL CARRIERS PLAN MEETING

Upper Peninsula Ass'n
At Ishpeming Next
Weekend

Negaunee. — The Upper Michigan district of the National Association of Letter Carriers will hold their 1944 convention Saturday and Sunday in Negaunee. Between 75 and 100 are expected to attend.

Principal guest will be Dennis Murray, Kalamazoo, chief of the national executive committee.

Saturday afternoon will be given over to registration and the first session will be a round-table discussion from 8 to 10 in the fire hall auditorium. The evening will close with a Dutch lunch.

The annual business meeting, with election of officers, will be held at 9 o'clock Sunday morning.

At 1, in the fire hall auditorium, the convention dinner will be served. Mr. Murray will be the speaker, discussing the program of the association, what has been accomplished in the past year and the aims and objects for the coming 12 months.

Every city postoffice in the peninsula is expected to be represented. Any letter carrier is eligible to attend.

Painter Harris, Negaunee, is district secretary.

Sgt. Russell James Martin, 24 year old son of Mrs. Leo Doucette, was killed in action in France on August 4, according to word received from the war department by his mother.

Sgt. Martin had been in the service for two years, the past nine months of which were spent overseas.

He was a graduate of Grand Marais high school and was employed at the Newberry Chemical company at the time of his induction in the army.

He is survived by his wife, Louella Tanner Martin of Flint; his mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Doucette, Grand Marais; three brothers, Pfc. Wm. Forrest Martin, Camp Hope, Texas; Pvt. Lloyd W. Martin, Camp Blanding, Florida; and Frances of Grand Marais.

City's Bonded Debt Cut Another $5,000

The issuance by the city of Escanaba yesterday of a check for $5,000 toward the retirement of water plant bonds brought the city's total bonded indebtedness down to $95,000, the lowest bond debt figure in many years.

In seven more years (Sept. 1, 1951) the city of Escanaba will be free of bonded indebtedness.

Now the city has $35,000 remaining in water plant bonds, and $60,000 in sewage disposal plant bonds. The water plant bonds will be retired in 1951, and the sewage disposal plant bond issue will be amortized July 1, 1950.

KILLED IN FRANCE — S/Sgt. Frank J. Kutches, 25, was killed in action in France on August 10, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kutches, 1607 Stephenson avenue, have been notified by the war department. He had been in service three and a half years.

Department Store Sales On Increase

In Upper Michigan the July volume of department store sales fell slightly when compared with July 1943. The cumulative sales for the year to date amounted to 6 per cent less than those for the same 1943 period.

July sales in northern Wisconsin and Upper Michigan were up 5 per cent when compared with sales in July a year ago, while the total volume for the first seven months of 1944 were 2 per cent greater than those in the same months of 1943.

The July Summary of Department and General Store Sales just released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis shows retail trade in the entire Ninth Federal Reserve District to be 9 per cent above July last year, while the cumulative volume for 1944 shows an increase of 8 per cent over the same 1943 period.

Child Removed To Marquette Clinic For Observation

Dolores Kolich, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kolich, North Escanaba, was taken to the children's clinic, Marquette, yesterday, for observation after the child developed a high fever and other symptoms of infantile paralysis. Dr. M. A. Elstein, local health director, reported the case may not develop into infantile paralysis but that the child was removed to the clinic as a precautionary measure.

There has been no paralysis or muscular involvement in the case thus far, Dr. Elstein reported.

Funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, at a solemn requiem high mass at Sacred Heart church, with Rev. Fr. Roll and Dion officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery in Escanaba.

Mrs. Sowinski is survived by her husband, one daughter, Mrs. Frank Moraski, of Schaffer; a son, Joseph, of Chicago; a sister-in-law, Mrs. Cecilia Sowinski, of Chicago; and six grandchildren.

ALBERT BLAZEK

Funeral services for Albert Blazek, aged resident of Wilson, who died Wednesday, will be held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Frank Vania, where the body is resting in state. Burial will be in Spalding cemetery. Rev. Fr. F. A. Seifert will conduct the committal service. A funeral mass will be offered this morning at 8 o'clock at St. Francis Xavier church.

Just For The Record

Butte, Mont. (AP) — Harvey D. Howard walked into the draft board office and said he'd never been registered for Selective Service. He was in the Montana national guard when war came to the U. S., served 15 months in the Pacific and was wounded. Recently given a medical discharge, he insisted his name be placed, at last, on the draft list.

Wm. Fredrickson Gets Commission In Merchant Marine

Kings Point, N. Y. — Cadet-Midshipman William John Fredrickson, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Fredrickson, of 312 South 13th street, Escanaba, Mich., has just graduated from the United States Merchant Marine Academy here. He received a three year commission as third officer in the Merchant Marine, a commission as ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve and the rank of ensign in the U. S. Fredrickson Maritime Service.

Fredrickson is a graduate of high school where he was active in football, basketball, tennis and track and was also a member of the band and History club. He was appointed to the United States Merchant Marine Corps 18 months ago receiving his basic training of three months here at the academy following which he served as a deck cadet-midshipman for six months aboard a merchant ship carrying vital war supplies to the far-flung battlefronts. He returned to Kings Point for advanced courses nine months ago.

Ranchers Intrigue The English Girls

Denver, (AP) — A couple of English girls, writing Postmaster J. L. Stevie for the names of four young ranchers with whom they could correspond. They explained that some Yank soldiers stationed in England had told such tall tales of the American western cow country, they wanted to write to some of the young ranchers to find out if what they had been told was true.

CENTRAL HEAT SEEN LOGICAL

Sault Ste. Marie Plans Utility Project After War

Sault Ste. Marie—Fundamental conditions in Sault Ste. Marie are as favorable for a central heating plant as in any city of comparable size.

That's the official conclusion of the engineering firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls, Inc., of Detroit, which was employed by the city commission to make a survey.

The central heating system is right now being considered by the city planning commission headed by Waldo Murphy as a post-war possibility.

The engineers' report shows that the plant would cost more than expected.

Desirable Proposition

Other factors, however, the report points out make it a desirable proposition.

Among the favorable factors are:

The business and residential district to be served is fairly compact.

Soil conditions are fair.

Water conditions are excellent.

Long winters and low temperatures create favorable load conditions.

Location of city on navigable water is an advantage in freight costs of coal.

The report suggests construction of the plant on the Kemp property, near the community building. The city will eventually own this property.

The report is adverse to installing electric generating equipment.

Total estimated cost of the project is $597,500 and the suggestion is made that the figure $625,000 be used as a basis for appropriation.

The area to be served would at the beginning at least be downtown Sault Ste. Marie and the more densely populated streets on the "island."

NEW PASTOR ARRIVES

Ishpeming—The Rev. Cecil Osterberg, successor to the Rev. Eugene Lundberg as pastor of the Mission Covenant church, will arrive Friday, with Mrs. Osterberg and deliver his first sermon at 11 Sunday morning.

The Rev. Osterberg was graduated from the North Park college seminary in Chicago, in June and the Mission Covenant is his first church. He spent a Sunday here and following this received an invitation from the congregation to accept the pastorate.

Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross in 1905.

WPB Order Controls Lumber Distribution

The lumber industry is very much interested in a new controlling order issued by the war production board, according to J. Herbert Stone of Milwaukee, Wis., head of the timber production war project for the north central region. "Due to extreme scarcity of lumber, and the critical need for lumber, Order L-335 was adopted. This will provide more effective channeling of supplies to essential lumber users," stated Mr. Stone.

Order L-335 covers only lumber, plank, and other sawed materials. Railroad and mine ties, hardwood flooring, and small dimension stock are the principal sawed materials excluded from this order. Mills producing 100 thousand board feet or more annually are affected.

The WPB has grouped users of lumber into four categories:

Group one concerns those using 50 thousand board feet and over of lumber products every three months. Form WPB 3640 stating their requirements must be approved before these users can obtain their lumber.

Group two includes users of less than 50 thousand board feet per quarter in essential war work. However, the mining and smelting industry, petroleum production industry, and federally approved construction jobs using any amount of lumber are included in this group.

Group three includes farmers, who must obtain a certificate of necessity and a preference rating from their county war board for essential construction.

Wigwagging and heliographing, utilizing reflected flashes of sunlight, were among man's earliest systems of signaling.

Most of the American birds known as hawks do not kill poultry or small birds.

Engadine

Mrs. Joe Crnkovich Engadine—Funeral services for Mrs. Joe Crnkovich, 53, were held at a requiem high mass at Our Lady of Lourdes church at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning with the Rev. Father W. Pelletier officiating.

Pallbearers were: Matt Klobucher, Jake Raski, Mike Oranich, Frank Butkovich, Andrew Binko and Tony Klobucher.

Out of town relatives at the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. John Jakovac and Joe Oranich, of Lansing; Steve and Joe Jurelich, of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Val Klariach and son Tony of Manistique; Ann Crnkovich of Lansing; and Mrs. Joe Jr. Crnkovich and daughter Cynthia of Independence, Kansas. Burial was in the Engadine cemetery.

Personals

Misses Louise and Mary Proton of Grand Haven are spending their two week's vacation with their sister, Selma and brother, Louis and family.

Guests and relatives who spent their vacations recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Quinn were: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Elliott and children Patrick and Sharon Lee of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Quinn and son, Gerald of Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kovalske of Newberry; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Quinn of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemhart and son Fritzjoy of Kalamazoo; Leo Hackla, and Albert Collin of Chicago; Mrs. Elizabeth Cogger of Detroit and Mrs. Lloyd Quinn and children, Jack and Thomas of Manistique.

This recipe makes two 8-inch layers

1/2 cup shortening
1 1/2 cups sugar
2 eggs
2 cups milk or water
2 cups fine Shoen Cake Flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream shortening, sugar, salt, and vanilla. Add eggs one at a time and beat well. Add flour and liquid alternately. Add baking powder last, mixing just enough to blend thoroughly. Bake in two 8-inch layers or one oblong pan 10 by 12 for 30-35 minutes. Frost with

COUNTY SCOUTS ROUNDUP TODAY

2-Day Variety Program
Scheduled For Opening
At Gladstone Park

Anticipating good weather, final plans have been made for the fall round-up of Scouts from Delta county to be held at the Gladstone park, today and Saturday. A varied program has been formulated to take place throughout the day and evening. Contests of all kinds, including knot tying, water boiling, wood chopping, soft ball, and others. The evening highlight will be an impressive ceremony in Indian style around the camp-fire. The public is cordially invited to attend this evening affair.

Transportation will be furnished the Scouts of Escanaba if they will meet at 11:30 a. m. either at the City garage, City Recreation building, or the Webster school. Please note the change in time as was announced heretofore. It is suggested by Scout Executive S. N. Bradford, that Scouts from Escanaba, in order to lessen the amount of food to be taken to the round-up, eat their noon meal at home, this however, being left up to each individual patrol.

All Scouts on their arrival at the camp-site will register with one of the officials of the grounds. Tents will have been set up and ground space will be designated according to patrols.

All Order of The Arrow members attending the round-up are asked to bring their sash to take part in the evening ceremonies.

Trenary

Trenary—Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mills and children, Andrea and Allen, of Maplewood, Wis., are visiting at the Benson Mills home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richmond of Trenary and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lemm, of Chatham, spent the week end at the Richmond cottage at Sixteen Mile Lake.

Mrs. Katherine Sloan left Sunday for Gladstone, where she will make her home with her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Sloan.

Pearl Merrill of Munising, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Merrill of Munising is visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Erick Peterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Paulsen of Empire, Oregon are the parents of a ten pound eleven ounce son born August 20th. Mr. and Mrs. Paulsen are former Trenary residents. Mrs. Paulsen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cauchon of Trenary.

Mrs. Claude English and daughter Nancy Lou, of Calro, arrived here Friday to make her home. Jack Buckholz of the U. S. Navy, is spending his furlough at the home of his mother, Mrs. William Brown.

Mrs. Grant Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Ridge Bailey, left last week for Providence, Rhode Island, where she joined her husband who is in the U. S. Navy.

Billy Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Williamson of Osier, is visiting at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Benson Mills.

Alice Latvala, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walfred Latvala of Munising, is visiting at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Latvala.

Former Local Resident Dies
Mrs. Eva Paulsen, passed away in a Portland, Oregon hospital last week, where she had been confined for the past year.

Surviving Mrs. Paulsen are her husband Leonard, of Empire, Oregon; one son, Leo, who is with the armed forces in India; her mother Mrs. Katherine Sloan, who just recently moved to Gladstone from Trenary; three brothers, Robert, of Escanaba; Claude of Munising and Marion of Gladstone also several nieces and nephews.

SPORTS GOODS COULD BE MADE

New Opportunities For Upper Peninsula
Envisaged

The opportunity to develop a new industry in the Upper Peninsula, one which would produce for sale to the Peninsula's thousands of visitors, the sports goods they now buy and are manufactured elsewhere, was seen by the Upper Peninsula committee of the state planning commission as an important part of its postwar planning.

The report pointed out that the northern portion of the state bounds with raw materials out of which these products can be made, that there is an abundance of labor skilled in the crafts required for their manufacture, and that many of the small towns of the peninsula, which would benefit economically, have unused water power, housing facilities, schools and other public institutions sufficient to handle families so employed without further expenditures.

The list of suggested products was divided into five major groups, according to materials used: clothing and textiles, wood products, leather products, metal products and miscellaneous.

As an example, the committee report suggested in the classification of clothing and textiles, such products as: fishing clothes, pack sacks, fishing nets, game carriers, hunting clothes, golf bags, sleeping bags, tents, blankets, fishing lines.

Among leather products were included: hunting boots, jackets, moccasins, knife sheaths, gloves, purses and pouches.

Wood products included: cedar furniture, axe handles, fishing boats, toboggans, tennis racquet frames, trailers, snowshoes, bows and arrows, boat oars, casting rods, canoes, decoys, sleds.

In the metal products classification were included such items as camp saws, copper and silver fishing spoons, boat fittings, fire place grates, axes and hatchets, fish stringers and sculders, boat anchors, folding beds, camp dishes, stoves and ovens, gaffs, spears and knives.

Trout and bass flies, paper and cardboard cartons, mosquito dope, fly and fly line dressings, shoe and ski dressing, were among miscellaneous items suggested.

The report pointed out that boys and men coming back to their home towns after the war is over, will be seeking employment, and that peninsula educational institutions will be offering courses of instruction that will produce the skill necessary for these small industrial plants.

Ford Planning Plastic Auto Bodies After War

BY DAVID J. WILKIE

Detroit, (AP)—When the war stopped civilian automobile production in 1942 the Ford Motor Co. had been making motor vehicles for almost 30 years; it had rolled out more than 30,000,000 cars and trucks and its new model plans had been an annual concern of its competitors.

Now its long range plans again are subjects of speculation throughout the industry.

The company that introduced mass production to motordom and once attained a manufacturing level of 10,000 cars a day will enter the postwar era determined to recapture first place in the low price field.

In 1941 Ford produced 1,027,292 Ford and Mercury models; Chevrolet turned out 1,295,952 units; Plymouth made 500,383.

Big Fight Promised

The battle of the giants—Ford versus General Motors—promises to be one of the most intense of the world's postwar industrial competition.

The Ford company already has made positive moves. It has a new general sales manager in the veteran Jack R. Davis, new merchandising plans, and has made a number of changes in its sales organization.

Moreover, a new competitive model has been designed. Its details have been kept secret; so, too, have plans for its introduction. It is not intended to replace any of the models Ford produced before the war. According to reports Ford intends to resume production first of the Lincoln, Mercury and Ford V-8 lines after the war.

The new model could follow later. Sources close to the Ford company say it was designed on the assumption that most of the other car manufacturers also have been working on "surprise" models. Incidentally, it is apparently not a modernized four-cylinder model A, reported several weeks ago to be among Ford's postwar projects.

Says the youthful Henry Ford II, executive vice-president of the company:

"We expect to be able to build any kind of a car—within reason, of course—for which there may be a sizeable public demand." That covers a lot of ground.

Wants Low-Priced Car

Henry Ford, the 81-year-old founder, president and dominant personality in the organization, is convinced that once the war has been won and his company has completed its $6,250,000,000 armament production program he will be able to produce a lighter weight and lower priced car.

The elder Ford has not wholly agreed with those of his competitors who believe the postwar automobile must cost from 25 to 40 per cent more than its 1942 model counterpart.

"The day is coming," he said, "when everybody will need an automobile. That need cannot be met until a lower priced practical automobile is produced."

Back From Vacation

The noted industrialist has spent his annual summer vacation in Northern Michigan's Huron Mountain region. There he has watched the modernization of a big sawmill which he plans some day to convert into a plant for the production of plastic automobile bodies and parts.

"Much progress has been made in plastics in recent years," he said, "and we have found new ways of reinforcing plastic material. A practical automobile body of plastics is wholly possible. Moreover, there are many other parts of the car that can be made of plastics—and we are going to do it."

Ford made one plastic automobile body and has continued experimental work on a restricted scale during the war.

Ford does not claim the plastic automobile will be brought out in the immediate postwar era, he does indicate, however, that his postwar planning includes its earliest possible production.

On the basis of its most recent financial statement the Ford company will enter the postwar competitive battle in better shape than it ever has been. The statement listed assets in excess of $1,000,000,000 as of December 31, 1943, up approximately $200,000,000 over the preceding year, and surplus of $669,102,290, an increase of $45,528,898.

Beyond that, the Ford organization will have a vast amount of new experience gained in the manufacture of giant four-engine bomber planes at the rate of one an hour; aircraft engines; tanks; reconnaissance cars, amphibious vehicles, armor plate and dozens of other items of war material.

And despite the virtually complete conversion of his factories to war, the elder Ford has said that he could get them back into peacetime work in a relatively short time.

Briefly Told

Visitor Here—Wilson MacDonald, director of finance of the state highway department, was a business visitor here yesterday. MacDonald was formerly secretary of the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce.

Junior High School—Principal Clarence Zerbel announces that junior high school students will meet at the Wm. W. Oliver auditorium this morning to receive their home room assignments. The schedule follows: Seventh grade, 9:30 a. m.; eighth, 10 a. m., and ninth, 10:30 a. m.

Guest Speaker—Dr. D. Verner Swanson of Gowrie, Iowa, will be a guest of the Bethany Lutheran church next Sunday. He will conduct the two morning services at 9:15 (Swedish) and 10:45 (English).

gear that if they were to lay them down they had to have help to lift them upright.

And in the midst of it was a tandem bicycle ridden by a man and a beautiful woman, both in bright blue shorts, just as though they were holidaying—which undoubtedly they were.

You never saw so many bicycles in your life as in Paris. And they rig up the funniest contraptions on them, such as little two-wheeled carts which they tow behind. And we saw a wagon rigged up so it could be pulled by two bicyclists riding side by side, like a team of horses.

For 24 hours tanks were parked on the sidewalks all over downtown Paris. They were all manned by French soldiers, and each tank immediately became a sort of social center.

Kids were all over the tanks like flies. Women in white dresses climbed up to kiss men with grimy faces. And early the second morning we saw a girl climbing sleepily out of a tank turret.

French soldiers of the armored division were all in American uniforms and they had American equipment. Consequently most people at first thought we few Americans were French. Then, puzzled, they would say, "English!" and we would say, "No, American." And then we would get a little scream and a couple more kisses.

Every place you stopped somebody in the crowd could speak English. They apologized for not inviting us to their homes for a drink, saying they didn't have any. Time and again they would say, "we've waited so long for you!" It almost got to be a refrain.

One elderly gentleman said that although we were long in reaching France we had come swiftly since then. He said the people hadn't expected us to be in Paris for six months after Invasion Day. There are not many American soldiers in Paris. And it's unlikely there will be, at least for some time, because they are out over France going on with the war.

Paris was not a military objective; its liberation so soon was more of a symbol. That's the reason the French Armored Division was assigned to the job.

The armies still fighting in the field were practically deserted for a few days by the correspondents, as we all wanted to get in on the liberation of Paris. There were so many correspondents it got to be a joke, even among us. I think at least 200 must have entered the city that first day, both before and after the surrender.

The army had picked out a hotel for us ahead of time, and it was taken over as soon as the city surrendered. But though it was a big hotel it was full before dark the first day so they have taken over another large one across the street.

Hotel life seems strange after so long in the field. My own room is a big corner one, with easy chairs, a soft bed, a bathroom and maid and hall-porter service. There is no electricity in the daytime, no hot water anytime, and no restaurant or bar, but outside of that the hotel is just about like peacetime.

Sitting here writing within safe walls, and looking out the window occasionally at the street thronged with happy people, it is already hard to believe there was a war; even harder to realize there still is a war.

Kipling

Schools Re-Open September 6

Kipling—The two rural schools of Brampton Township will open Wednesday morning, Sept. 6, it has been announced by Zola Beauchamp, secretary of the board.

The school bus will run on the same schedule as last year, leaving the Brampton Store at 7:30 and proceeding through the Days River and Kipling districts. High school pupils will be transported to the Gladstone high school which will open on Tuesday, Sept. 5. These pupils are asked to cooperate by meeting in groups; so that the bus will not have to stop at every individual home. Bus stops are to be made every quarter mile in districts where homes are near one another.

Bob Harper of Brampton, will serve as bus substitute driver during the absence of George Berg.

The complete teaching staff for the year is as follows: Brampton school—Miss Barbara Berbeck, Kindergarten to Fifth grade.

Kipling School—Miss Mary L. Croten, principal, Sixth, Seventh and Eighth grades; Mrs. Leona Erickson, Third, Fourth and Fifth grade; Miss Fernie Nasberg, Kindergarten, First and Second grade. School Board for Brampton township for this year, President, Mrs. Mary Williams, Brampton; secretary, Mrs. Zola Beauchamp, Gladstone R 1; treasurer, Walter VanDeWeghe, Gladstone R 1; trustees, Mrs. Josephine Duckens, Gladstone R 1; and Joseph LeMen, Brampton.

MISSING IN GERMANY

Iron Mountain—Sgt. Elmer E. Flood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Flood, 814 Johnstone street, Sault Ste. Marie, former Iron Mountain resident, has been missing in action over German-held territory since July 29. His parents were informed by the War Department.

Sgt. Flood was inducted into the Air Corps on March 18, 1943, and sent to Lowry Field, Utah, for basic training. He later was sent to Buckley Field, Col., for advanced training, and was awarded his wings on Dec. 9, 1943, at Fort Meyer.

Novel Is Written By Warren Beck, Lawrence College

Warren Beck, English professor of Lawrence college, who served on the Nahma Vacation School faculty a few years ago, is the author of a first novel, "Final Score," published by Knopf.

The novel is receiving many favorable reviews in newspaper literary sections. Writing in the Chicago Sun book section, August Derleth has this to say in his review of "Final Score."

This first novel by the author of the much-applauded short story collection, "The Blue Sash and Other Stories," is an interesting, somewhat obliquely told story of the rise and fall of an American hero, Bill Hutton, however, is a Midwestern gridiron hero, famed for his touchdowns, and, like a good many such heroes, he is long on brawn and short on brain.

What Warren Beck attempts in this novel is not a delineation of the gridiron hero in his heroic phase so much as an examination of what happens to Bill Hutton after his football days. Given a man who exists solely by virtue of the applause of the crowd and cannot be happy without it, who is looked upon as a leader by a blind populace unable to understand that a football hero is not necessarily a leader anywhere but on the field, and the trouble-potential rises sharply. Hutton goes from the gridiron into the sporting-goods business, and from there he is drawn into politics, too stupid to know that he is being used. He ends up disgraced, fully and becomes a symbol of frustration and defeat arising out of an overweening ambition for which there was no excuse for being.

The novel is therefore not only the story of one man's rise and fall, but also social criticism, insofar as it points up the fact that

Amer. an hero-worship is wildly disproportionate to merit and almost calculated to bring about such tragedies as that of Bill Hutton. From spectators 'heroism' to demagoguery is not a great or long step in America.

Beck tells his story in episodic installments through Hutton's 'unstable' relations with man, who, though close to Hutton, viewed him impersonally, and sometimes with active dislike, despite an innate sympathy for "the poor big boy." It is told conventionally, and, in retrospect, stands out as a narrative case history, a composition in minor key, as it were, running along on an even keel which does not permit much deviation for climaxes. The result makes for easy reading, but alters the perspective and keeps the key in monotone.

IT TAKES A
LOT OF CARS
TO MOVE
1944's GRAIN
CROP!

RIGHT NOW, the great Northwest is harvesting another bumper grain crop.

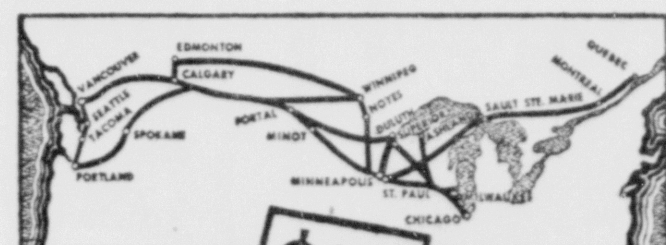

It's going to take a lot of freight cars to move this grain to the terminals. And there's a serious shortage of cars today—shortage created by the tremendous demands made upon the railroad plant by the war effort.

It may be that cars will not always be available at all points on the SOO LINE as quickly as desired to move this harvest. In addition to the car shortage, any delay in unloading tends to increase the burden already put upon our resources.

To assist us in giving better service to all, we ask shippers to observe these suggestions:

1. Load cars to full load limit or cubic capacity.
2. Load cars on the same day received.
3. Unload immediately and notify us that car is unloaded.

With your continued cooperation, we'll be able to serve all more efficiently.

Today's Pattern

You can have the nicest lingerie in captivity for a fraction of the cost of really good underwear if you cut and sew your own—rayon satin in delicate pastels, white or flower-patterned crepes will make this well-fitted set for not too much money.

Pattern No. 8687 is in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20; 40, 42 and 44. Size 16 requires 3 yards and 39-inch material for the slip; 1½ yards for the matching panties.

For this pattern, send 20 cents, in COINS, your name, address, size desired, and the PATTERN NUMBER to Escanaba Daily Press Today's Pattern Service, 550 South Wells Street, Chicago 7, Ill.

The smart new issue of the mid-summer style book—FASHION—has 32 pages of cool-looking, crisp new sportswear and summer day frocks and accessories. Order your copy now. Price 15 cents.

Be sure to buy children outer garments that are easy to get in and out of and that allow for active movement.

A soft cotton floor mop kept barely damp with a mixture of three parts of kerosene and one part of white mineral oil is excellent for dry mopping.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE D-240: Dr. Roy L. Smith, eminent churchman and editor of the Christian Advocate, gave an address recently which so excellently delineated the difference between theology and true religion, that I feel impelled to quote fragments of it.

"When I was out in Kansas," Dr. Smith said, "I remember hearing a clergyman extol the virtues of his mother. He said she was the most perfect human being he had ever met on this earth."

"But he then told his audience that he never expected to meet her in heaven, for she had not been baptized by immersion!"

"Ladies and Gentlemen, I am talking to you today about the Book of John in the New Testament. What does John say about immersion?"

The Dr. Smith quickly turned the pages of the Bible.

"Nothing in Chapter I, about immersion. Nothing in Chapter II, either. Nor in Chapter III, or any other chapter in the Book of John."

"Apparently John, the scholarly friend and student of Jesus, did not consider immersion of great importance or he would certainly have discussed it."

People Who Strain At Gnats
"Two of our great church denominations recently contemplated merging, but they feel apart over a debate on Apostolic Succession. Let's see what John says about Apostolic Succession."

He quickly thumbed through the pages.

"Nothing in Chapter I, about Apostolic Succession. Nothing in Chapter II, either. Nor in Chapter III, or any other chapter in the Book of John."

"Apparently John did not consider Apostolic Succession of great importance or he would have discussed it."

Quibbling Churchmen
"Recently I received a bitter letter from a reader who took exception to an editorial I had written. 'You did not mention the Virgin Birth,' said this writer, 'so apparently you don't believe in it.' 'If you don't believe in it, then you are not a Christian, and if you are not a Christian, you don't belong as editor of the Christian Advocate.'"

"This angry critic has taken much for granted and then has proceeded with his own assumptions to what he thinks is a logic conclusion."

"He assumes I don't believe in the Virgin Birth, but doesn't even wait for an answer, for he is so desirous of damning me that he can't wait for facts."

"Even so, what does the Book of John say about the Virgin Birth?"

Dr. Smith thumbed through the pages for a third time.

"Nothing in Chapter I, about the Virgin Birth. Nothing in Chapter II, either. Not in Chapter III, or any other chapter in the Book of John."

"Apparently, therefore, John did not consider the Virgin Birth of great importance or he would certainly have stressed it. Isn't that a perfectly sane and logical conclusion?"

Theology Or Religion
Occasionally one of you readers take me to task. You will make a false assumption but attribute it to me, though I have never said the thing imputed to me, and then unbend yourself of a diatribe that almost burns up the paper.

If you would closely read my column you would usually find no logical excuse for ranting at what I have said. But you apparently have an emotional urge to vent your pent up ire, so you twist my statements despite the fact they are down in black and white, in order to make them fit your ulterior purpose.

Before you criticize what I say, please be sure you first read what I say so at least you quote me correctly. Learn to be logical, which means start with facts!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Trinity League
Service Sunday

The Luther League of Trinity Lutheran church at Stonington is sponsoring a special service Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at which a group of new stars on the service flag will be dedicated. The program will include vocal solos by Daniel Raess of Escanaba; selections by the Trinity Young People's Chorus, and a talk on "The Saving Hand of God," by Rev. L. R. Lund. The public is invited.

Trinity Sunday school will meet at 10 o'clock and the confirmation class at 7 o'clock in the evening.

PLAN PROGRAM ON LABOR DAY

Buckeye Local Arranges Picnic For Monday At Park

A Labor Day program is to be sponsored here Monday by Buckeye Local No. 9 with the City Recreation Department cooperating.

A picnic and speaking program is planned. There will also be children's bike parade with prizes for the winners and a double-header softball game.

In one of the games the White Birch team of Flat Rock will meet the Buckeye Local in a double-header at the park diamond. The Buckeyes are leading the Gladstone league with 7 straight victories and no defeats while the White Birches are the Upper Peninsula Class B champions and holders of the Escanaba city league title.

Between games of the double-header the Buckeye women will meet the Royce CYO team from Escanaba. The Buckeye women are the Delta county champions having won the title from the CYO's here last Sunday.

Blair will probably pitch for the locals with DeGrand hurling for the CYO's. They are the two leading pitchers in local women's softball.

Victor Karnitz has returned from Detroit where he spent the past week visiting with relatives.

Miss Elaine Norton has returned.

A Proclamation

On Monday, Sept. 4 we are celebrating Labor Day, the third Labor Day since our country was attacked by enemies of free labor! Tens of thousands are missing from our ranks. Some are "missing" on the battlefield, others have made the supreme sacrifice for our country and for us.

Let us therefore, on this Labor Day not only rejoice in our privileges but also rededicate ourselves never to shrink in our duty toward our brothers in arms. Duties which consist of not only production and transportation of material necessary for a speedy ending of this terrible war but also to get our names on the registration list before the deadline is up. And when election rolls around go to the polls and vote for men to represent us in our state and national government who will sponsor and support legislation that will assure these young people that when they get home (if they do get home) that they will have a chance to get on the payroll of tomorrow, as well as on the honor roll of today.

August H. Olson,
Mayor, City of Gladstone
August 30, 1944.

SCOUT ROUNDUP TO OPEN TODAY

Expect About 100 Scouts To Participate In Gathering

Approximately 100 Scouts of Delta county are expected to attend the annual fall roundup to be held today and Saturday in the tourist park.

Each Scout is entitled to bring a youth who is a non-Scout as a guest. This is expected to swell the number considerably.

Registration will be at 11 o'clock this morning and everything should be set up and in readiness for inspection by 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The roundup will be on a patrol basis, with six Scouts to a patrol. This evening from 8 until 10 o'clock there will be a campfire, songs and Indian story telling with Wallace Cameron serving as master of ceremonies.

Ribbon awards will be made for cooking, tent inspection and other events such as fire building, water boiling and swimming, providing the weather is suitable.

Parents and committeemen are invited to visit the camp anytime during the day or evening.

Nine troops from Gladstone, Escanaba, Rapid River, Bark River and Rock, will participate.

Oldtimers to Play All-Stars Sunday

Oldtimers have challenged the Gladstone All-Stars to a baseball game Sunday afternoon, confident that they can give the youngsters some pointers in the pastime.

Among the oldtimers who are expected to be out are Hank and Dab Bovin, Walter VanDeWeghe, James Cannon, John DeMenter, John Rajala, John Lake, Couillard, Floyd Van Daele and Sabourin.

Iceland is an island of volcanic origin.

News From Men In The Service

James H. Cole has been promoted to sergeant from private first class, according to word received here. Sgt. Cole is now with combat troops in France. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Cole.

D. A. Beebe, Penney Store Manager Here

D. A. Beebe arrived in Gladstone Thursday and tomorrow will assume management of the J. C. Penney store here, succeeding George Johnson who has been here for the past 12 years.

Mr. Beebe came to Gladstone from Petoskey where he served as assistant manager for four years. Previously he was with the Penney company at their stores at Cadillac and Alpena.

Mr. Johnson resigned last month and has announced plans to open a Firestone store at Hastings, Mich. He will move there with his family in the near future.

Tavern Operators Arraigned In Court

WOUNDED IN ACTION

Iron River—Dudwig F. Stoor, 34, Crystal Falls, was seriously injured in action Aug. 12 in France with the former Claudia Deloria, Iron River, was informed by the War Department. No details of the manner in which he was hurt were given.

WHY HITLER HAS MANPOWER TROUBLE—One reason why Adolf Hitler is scraping the bottom of his manpower barrel is seen in the remarkable photo above. It shows part of a stockade holding 10,000 German prisoners, captured in the Allied drive in France. They are standing by for lunch—probably the war's longest chow line. Enemy brass hats, too, are learning what it means to be the conquered instead of the conqueror. Photo at right shows German officers, bereft of Nazi arrogance, being marched through a Paris street by members of the Maquis forces who helped liberate the French capital. (NEA Photos.)

FLYING TIGER—A USAF pilot told workers at the Oklahoma City Air Depot that the Japs were scared to death of tigers, so when the gang was assigned a four-motor Liberator bomber they painted on it the brilliant tiger's head seen in the photo above. The Jap-sear is bright yellow, with green eyes, a black nose and white-fanged mouth dripping bright red "blood." (ASC photo from Flying Magazine.)

WOMEN OF FRANCE — UP IN ARMS — Frenchwomen made the most of their opportunity to lend a hand in celebrating the liberation of Paris. They were well-armed, literally, to welcome GI's or to dispose of snipers. Open-armed welcome to GI Joe (top left) was as typical as the armload of vengeance in the submachine gun carried by a

SAFETY FIRST!—The horrible experience undergone by Mrs. Margaret Eagan, above, St. Louis, Mo., war plant worker, should be a lesson in "Safety First" to all women who work near machinery. Her scalp was torn from her head when her hair became entangled in a machine, and doctors gave her little hope that her hair ever will grow again. (NEA Photo.)

PEACE--IT'S WONDERFUL — With lifting of pre-D-Day ban against civilian use of southern English beaches, hundreds of holidaying Britons flocked to the shore to enjoy what's left of the summer sun. There's the photo above, showing one of the crowded resorts, to indicate that the war is rushing to a climax just a few miles across the Channel.

Go Back to School — This is for boys and girls of high school age who worked this summer and think they'll continue rather than go back to school. The money you are making now seems big, and very real. The benefits of education may seem vague and abstract. Don't let those things fool you. The most valuable thing you can get at your age is an education that in the future will enable you to earn much more money and attain much more important positions. How good will your present job be five years from now? (NEA Photo)

KNOTS TO YOU, FRITZY—German soldiers, prisoners aboard a Coast Guard-manned transport en route to internment in the U. S., pick up a little nautical knowledge as, under tutelage of bosun's mate, they learn mysteries of sailors' knots. (USCG photo from NEA)

The Munising Township Library will be closed all day Monday, September 4.

Miss Edna Erickson, librarian at Munising High School, announces that with the opening of school the library will be open to students as well as adults from 8:00 a. m. until 5:00 p. m. Monday through Friday. There are also many new books on the different phases of World War II now in the library.

High School Opens
Wednesday Morning

School opens for another year at Mather high next Wednesday morning at 8:20. A number of new students have already called on Supt. Jackson and have their work planned ready for the opening. Several pupils already enrolled, have called and asked for changes. Any other new or old student who wishes to see Mr. Jackson should call at his office before opening day to avoid confusion on opening day. This is especially asked of upper classmen.

Mr. Jackson remembers that at the close of the first World War there was an unprecedented increase in high school and college enrollment of young people who had been working or in the service of their country who suddenly realized the great benefits of added learning and skills. In this war many are still wiser and are not waiting for the close of the war. Returned veterans are entering colleges and younger folks who are not constantly employed in necessary work are re-entering high school for full or part time. Those students profit most who fully realize the need of more training. Every high school in the land will gladly receive every young person who wishes to increase his fitness for life.

A number of Munising boys and girls who went into the service before completing high school are now taking courses by correspondence or in night classes that they may earlier win a diploma. More and more young people are realizing that competition for the better jobs will be much keener after the United States begins to adjust itself to the conditions of universal peace.

direction of Coach Ernest Johnson is working out daily for the opening grid game at Manistique, Saturday, September 3. The first home game will be the following Saturday against Marquette. It will help greatly if all friends of the school will plan to attend the opening home game and show the boys they are behind them for victory.

Dr. Lobb Overseas
On Job With OWI

Munising—Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Lobb, Texas, former residents of Munising, who are spending several weeks here visiting friends, were advised recently that their son, Dr. John Lobb, has been granted leave from his post of associate professor of economics and sociology at Mt. Holyoke college, South Hadley, Mass., to enter the overseas branch of the Office of War Information.

Dr. Lobb, who holds B. A. and Ph. D. degrees from Yale university, has made special studies in the field of social anthropology, traveling abroad in this country during his summer vacations. In 1936 he spent several months in research among American Indians of the southwest, living in an Indian village in New Mexico. In 1937 he made similar studies in Haiti.

Dr. Lobb will leave South Hadley on September 1 to assume his new duties. His wife, who is a member of the faculty of music at Mt. Holyoke college, and their three-year-old daughter, Linda, will continue to reside in South Hadley.

State IOOF Heads
To Visit Munising

Grand Master Charles H. Leonard and Grand Secretary Glenn K. Hammel and others will be present at a joint meeting of the Odd Fellows and Rebekah Lodge to be held Friday evening Sept. 1, at 8:00 p. m. All local and visiting Odd fellows and Rebekahs are urged to attend. Lunch will be served. The officials will be here all day Friday and will spend the day deep sea fishing and sight-seeing.

BRIEFS

Mr. and Mrs. George Luell and son James returned Wednesday from Ludsmith, Wis., after a two weeks visit with relatives and friends.

George Schilling, Y 2/c, has returned to his base in San Francisco after spending a ten day leave with relatives and friends.

Mrs. Albert Bovan and Mrs. Harold Bovan left Thursday for Cleveland and Detroit where they will spend a month visiting relatives.

Pvt. Ferret Watson, stationed at Camp Fannin, Texas, is spending a furlough with his family and friends.

Leonard Lundbom and Ted Belfry have returned to Great Lakes after their boot leaves.

Mrs. Ernest Johnson and children of Blaney Park have joined Mr. Johnson who will teach during the coming school year.

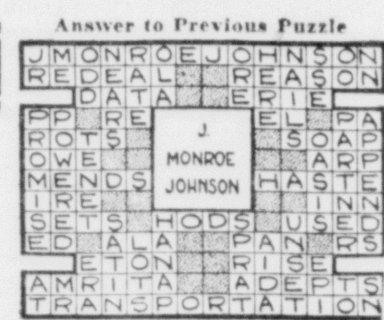

Mrs. William Matson, who was injured recently in a automobile accident, has been discharged from the Munising hospital.

KRUMLAUF APPOINTED

Ishpeming—Harry E. Krumlauf, associate professor at Michigan Tech. Houghton, has been named secretary-treasurer of the U. P. section of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, succeeding the late C. H. Baxter.

The appointment of Krumlauf was made on the recommendation of C. W. Allen, Ishpeming; Dr. A. K. Snelgrove, Michigan Tech., and S. E. Quayle, Iron River, members of the nominating committee.

Others on the executive committee are Rudolph Erickson, Iron River, president, and Dr. C. H. Benedict, Lake Linden; F. E. Brown, Iron River; W. L. Knoll, Ironwood, and G. R. Jackson, Ishpeming, the retiring president.

ALLSTAR CROWN GOES TO DOBBS

Forward Pass Ace Most Valuable In Charity Tilt With Bears

BY CHARLES DUNKLEY
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—Lt. Glenn Dobbs of Tulsa University, stationed with the Second Air Force at Colorado Springs, Colo., was voted the most valuable player for the College All-Stars in last night's charity game won by the professional Chicago Bears, 24 to 21, on a fourth period field goal.

This honor was accorded the youthful Dobbs, rated as one of the greatest forward passers in college history, by football writers from all sections of the country after they appraised his work in sparking the All-Stars attack. Dobbs will receive a trophy, emblematic of the honor, in the 1945 game between the Collegians and the champions of the National football league.

Second place honors went to Lou Saban, Indiana University, who kicked three points after touchdowns, and backed up the All-Stars' line with superb tackling. His plunges accounted for the All-Stars' last touchdown.

Head Coach Lynn Waldorf of the Stars rated Saban's excellent generalship at quarterback as one of the game's personal accomplishments. Saban is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., as a lieutenant in infantry.

Wolverines Drill On Defensive Game
Ann Arbor, Mich., Aug. 31 (AP)—Defensive tactics held priority in the University of Michigan's football camp Thursday.

Coach H. O. Fritz Crisler drilled his backs in contact tackling routine. Line Coach Clarence "Biggie" Munn put his linemen through the intricacies of grid play when the other fellow has the ball.

Crisler took charge of the Wolverines following a one day leave spent attending a Big Ten rules meeting in Chicago.

Although the current Seahawks' roster lists carry no names of well-established stars there is a feeling in the Michigan camp that the Iowa pre-flighters are going to be mighty tough and that they'll have a hard-going well-balanced aggregation, in the Sept. 16 opener here.

Other important series remaining in the A. L. schedule that will go far towards determining the 1944 champion are the following: New York at Boston, Sept. 8-9.

Labor Day Fishing Prospects Improved
Lansing, Aug. 31 (AP)—Fishing prospects for the Labor Day weekend have taken a decided turn for the better, the state conservation department reported today.

Labor Day will give anglers their last chance to fish for trout this season, and the department said best results were indicated throughout the Upper Peninsula and in portions of the Lower Peninsula. Recent rains and cooler weather have revived prospects along the streams.

Most resorts are solidly booked for the weekend, the department said.

Westfall Scores In Lions Scrim
Detroit, Aug. 31 (AP)—Bob Westfall, former University of Michigan fullback, scored twice on passes from Jack Lowther of Detroit as the Lions swamped the Blues, 24 to 6, today in the Detroit Lions' first intra-squad grid scrimmage of the season.

Lowther counted another touchdown on a running play and End Don Lashway recovered a fumble for the fourth.

Coach Gus Dorais announced the release of seven candidates.

M CLUB GETS TWO NEW MEMBERS—Last additions to the University of Michigan's M club, composed of varsity letter-winners, are Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, university president and Athletic Director H. O. Fritz, head football coach. Ruthven left, and Fritz, right, received life memberships and special M pins from Federal Judge Frank A. Picard, (center) Detroit M club president, during ceremonies as the Wolverines opened fall drills. Varsity candidates for this year's team look on in the background.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The Tigers opened a crucial series at St. Louis last night, their last series of the season with the league leading Browns. Three night games are on tap, climaxed with a single afternoon game on Sunday, Sept. 3. Four games off the pace, the Tigers will need three victories in the four game series to put them in overhauling distance. A split of the series would only serve to leave them in the same position that they are now, with fewer games of play remaining in which to close the gap.

Other important series remaining in the A. L. schedule that will go far towards determining the 1944 champion are the following: New York at Boston, Sept. 8-9.

YANKEES CREEP UP ON BROWNS

League Lead Cut Full Game In Double Win Over Senators

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—The New York Yankees cut a full game off the lead of the American league leading St. Louis Browns today, by sweeping a doubleheader from the Washington Senators 9-4 and 4-0.

The twin victories moved the Yankees to within two and a half games from the Browns and increased their margin over the third place Detroit and Boston to a game and a half.

The veteran Frankie Crosetti was the hero of the nightcap, riling a home run with two out in the ninth to give young Mel Queen, who went the route for the Yanks, his third victory. The Yanks had been kept in the game by Nick Etten's two-run homer in the second inning, his 15th, off the Venezuelan hurler, Alejandro Carrasquel.

Some faulty infield play by the Senators together with Johnny Lindell's base clearing triple in the eighth, gave the Yanks the opener. Each of the four Nats' infielders committed an error for some sort of a record.

Walter Dubiel hung up his 11th success while Mickey Haefner suffered his 13th loss. Washington 002 000 020—4 10 5 New York 120 020 04x—9 10 6 Haefner and Ferrell; Dubiel and Garbark.

Washington 102 000 000—3 9 1 New York 020 001 001—4 8 9 Carrasquel and Guerra; Queen and Garbark.

Bluejackets Close Season At 48 Wins; Rout Indians 17-4

Great Lakes, Ill., Aug. 31 (AP)—The Great Lakes Bluejackets wound up their record 1944 season today with a 17-4 rout of the Cleveland Indians before some 12,000 navy personnel at Constitution field.

It was the Sailors' 48th win in 50 starts—by far the best record of the three teams Lt. Cmdr. Mickey Cochrane has managed here. Backed by six-run Bluejackets blasts in the third and fourth innings, Virgil Trucks had no trouble scoring his tenth triumph against no defeats.

The Sailors pounded out 21 hits, including two home runs by Schoolboy Rowe.

Line score: Cleveland 010 010 020—4 10 1 Great Lakes 026 000 21x—17 21 1 Calvert, Poat, O'Dea and Susce, Schlueter; Truck and West.

Ralph Bietila Given Purple Heart Award

Ishpeming—Award of the Purple Heart has been made to Ralph Bietila, youngest of the "Flying Bietilas" in the armed forces.

He was wounded in the elbow and front right chest by shrapnel on April, but the family received the news only a few days ago.

Ralph, fireman second class, has been on a destroyer in the South Pacific and he received medical attention on board ship. He has recovered from his wounds and has been returned to active service, his mother, Mrs. Mary Bietila, 259 Jasper street, has been advised.

The flags of France, Spain, England, the Confederacy and the United States have flown over Biloxi, Mississippi.

Detroit Nips St. Louis 4 And 3 Behind Trout

St. Louis, Aug. 31 (AP)—The league leading St. Louis Browns' margin over the second place New York Yankees was cut to two games tonight when Dizzy Trout won his 23rd game of the season as the Detroit Tigers defeated St. Louis 4 to 3.

Willis Hudlin, making his first appearance since the Browns obtained him from Little Rock, lost in the relief role. It was Trout's ninth straight victory.

With the score tied 3-3 Trout opened the ninth with a single, but was forced at second when Roger Cramer attempted to bunt. Cramer took second as Eddie Mayo grounded out to George McGuinn and scored on Pinky Higgins' single to right.

Don Gutteridge set the stage for Detroit's first score when he fumbled Jimmy Outlaw's grounder. Paul Richards forced Outlaw and Joe Hoover singled. Frank Overmire hit to Gutteridge and when Vern Stephens dropped Don's throw at second trying for a force play the bases were filled. Roger Cramer singled to left, scoring Richards and Hoover.

The Browns' biggest inning was in the seventh when they overcame the Tigers' 2-run lead. Myron Haworth singled and Frank Mancuso, batting for Sig Jakucki, doubled. Gutteridge singled, scoring Shirley, who ran for Haworth, and Mancuso. Gene Moore batted for Chet Laabs and was called out on strikes. The Browns' third tally came when Vern Stephens bounced a single off Rudy York's glove, scoring Gutteridge.

The Tigers tied the score in the eighth when Dizzy Trout doubled and went to third on Wakefield's grounder to Gutteridge. Outlaw lined a hit to Gutteridge and York, trapped between third and home, scored when Mancuso's throw struck him in the back and the ball rolled into leftfield.

The victory reduced St. Louis' margin over the Tigers to three games.

Southpaw Hal Newhouse who he takes the mound for the Tigers in tomorrow's game. He will be opposed by Nelson Potter who will be after his 14th win.

In gaining his 23rd victory and retaining major league pitching supremacy, Trout was touched for three hits in 2 1/2 innings, having relieved Frank Overmire in the seventh. Overmire gave up nine hits in 6 1/2 innings.

Detroit 4: 000 000 211—4 9 3 St. Louis 000 000 300—3 12 3 Trout, Overmire, Trout and Richards; Jakucki, Hudlin and Hayworth.

Hunting And Fishing
By Sid Gordon

THE DUCKS WILL SOON BE TENDER
In spite of the stories of the early settlers, trappers and the original Indians, a summer duck was not good food. The males were moulting and the females were on the nests guarding the eggs.

A moulting drake and a nesting female eat just enough food to carry them through those periods. Their food may be palatable for them but it adds nothing to their taste for the human palate in the summer.

Now is the fruiting season. The ducks are off their nests and their young are able to fend for themselves, with very little care from the mother. Both duck and drake are making up for those hungry periods of the summer.

All plants which grow on and in the water are bearing their fruits, which we call seeds. The water smartweed is loaded with seeds. The sago pondweed tubers and seeds, are now ripe and eagerly eaten by all ducks from canvasbacks to bluebills.

The other pondweeds, which the fishermen and hunters call bass weeds, muskie weeds and pickerel weeds now show their ripening seeds or fruits above the surface of the ponds, lakes and streams, excellent duck food.

The wild celery long ago carried its pods to the surface by using its spiral spring so that the flower would be fertilized at the surface by the pollen of the male flower under the water. The diving ducks are now dining on the tender winter buds and the tipping ducks steal many from them as they are brought to the surface by the divers.

How little we know of the food, the tenderizing quality of that which the ducks eat! But the ducks know that these water plants furnish food as rich as the corn of the fields. While they never disdain corn, they fatten on these rich fruits of marsh and water, not waiting for the crop of wild rice or the farmer's corn.

Ducks would not be fit to eat if they dined solely on the snails, clams and small fish of the waters. These which do have a bad taste, a fishy taste, which only long feeding of water fruits and plants will eliminate.

Even now it would be too early to shoot and eat even the best of our waterfowl. When the season opens on Sept. 20, nature's crop of fruits will be changed to tender duck meat.

The hunter will help the fisherman by reducing the crop of mergansers which hurt the fishing and will be allowed to take more mallards than formerly. The mallards are now so numerous that much crop damage is caused by these ducks, so delicious in the pan.

PEACE STOCKS ATTRACT BIDS

New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—Selected stocks in the peace classification again attracted modest bids today while many market leaders slipped a notch or did nothing.

The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .1 of a point at 54.9. Of 818 issues appearing, 299 were down, 280 up and 239 unchanged. Transfers divided to 604,740 shares from 594,655 yesterday.

An active performer on the upside was Bendis which hit another 1944 peak at 46 3/8, up 1 5/8. Lesser advances were retained by Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Washburn, International Harvester, Allied Chemical, Pennsylvania, Eastman Kodak, Consolidated Edison and Anaconda.

TRADING TRENDLESS
New York, Aug. 31 (AP)—An assortment of rails and industrial specialties were favored by buyers in an otherwise quiet and trendless bond market today.

Although the carrier group averaged a little higher, there were numerous losers in that department, some traceable directly to special developments affecting individual issues. Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Co., for example, dropped a point to 106 1/2 after it was announced directors of the road had petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission for permission to issue $72,194,000 of new 3 1/2s to retire the present debt.

Northern Pacific loans were backward along with those of the New York Central, New Haven and Katy.

On the brighter side with gains of fractions generally and in some cases a point or more were among others, Chicago Great Western 4 1/2s, No. 3 and 4, 36 to 39; Northern Western 4 1/2s, No. 3 and 4, 36 to 39; Kansas City Southern 3 1/2s, 36 to 39; Metropolitan Edison 4 1/2s, Morris & Essex 3 1/2s, Nickel Plate 3 1/2s, Philadelphia & Reading Coal 5s and 6s. U. S. governments were mostly neglected.

Most Brazilian and provincial issues were higher in an otherwise quiet foreign list.

Sales of $5,185,000 compared with $5,166,190 on Wednesday.

CHICAGO BUTTER
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—(WFA)—The butter market was firm today and unchanged at OPA ceilings.

CHICAGO EGGS
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—(WFA)—Eggs were very firm; large standards, No. 1 and 2, 39 1/2 to 45; No. 3 and 4, 36 to 39; medium standards, No. 1 and 2, 34 to 39; current receipts, 32 1/2 to 34; dries, 25 to 29; checks, 24 to 28.

CHICAGO POTATOES
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—(WFA)—Potatoes, arrivals 58, on track 156, total U. S. shipments, moderate; medium standards, No. 1 and 2, 14 to 16; No. 3 and 4, 12 to 14; russets, demand good, market firm at ceiling; for best quality northern stock, demand moderate, market firm; for fair quality, demand slow, market dull; Idaho russet Burbanks, U. S. No. 1, 3.68; fair triumphs, U. S. No. 1, 3.65; North Dakota Bliss Triumphs, U. S. No. 1, 3.65; Idaho russet Burbanks, U. S. No. 1, 3.68; Idaho russet Burbanks, U. S. No. 1, 3.68; Idaho russet Burbanks, U. S. No. 1, 3.68.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—Grain futures showed recovery after a drop today, gaining more than a cent a bushel in some cases on buying by commercial interests, commodity houses and shorts. Part of yesterday's sharp losses were regained.

Only September contracts showed a strong contrary movement, gaining one cent to a new seasonal high of 60 3/8 under heavy liquidation, but recovering somewhat near the close.

Recesses in active demand on reports that the War Food Administration would recommend that mandatory use of 10 per cent rye in breads be discontinued. The move was continued after September 30, when the directive expires. Profit-taking cut some of the gains, however.

Wheat closed at 17 1/2 cent above the previous close, September 15.55-58, oats were 1/4 lower to 1 1/4 higher, September 64.25-65.50, corn 1.50-1.52, 1.50-1.52, and barley was unchanged to 3-8 off, September 11.12-7.5.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, Aug. 31 (AP)—(WFA)—Salable hogs, 8,000, steady; early clearance; good and choice 150 to 240 lbs., 14.75; weights over 240 lbs., all and good and choice 14.75; heavy, 14.75; good, 14.75; good and choice 14.75.

Salable cattle 4,500, total 5,000; steers mostly steady; good and choice 10 to 12.75; fed steers and yearlings

NEW RULING ON GAS RATIONS

Allowances May Be Cut For Motorists With Two Books

As a result of the clarification of OPA gasoline rationing regulations, many motorists who have received additional gasoline allowances for special rations will no longer be entitled to this allowance, James E. Anderson, chief clerk of the local ration board explained yesterday.

Gasoline issued for the purpose of carrying on uncompensated work of benefit to the war effort, such as war bond solicitations, civilian defense, auxiliary coast guard duty, Red Cross programs, etc., must be applied for as a part of occupational mileage and not on special ration forms, Anderson said. This mileage is not classified as preferred and as a result motorists who do not otherwise qualify for preferred mileage, will be restricted to 475 miles per month, including whatever occupational mileage is granted to them in performing their gainful occupations.

In many cases motorists now receiving gasoline allowances for uncompensated volunteer work in connection with the war program will continue to receive the allowances by applying on the proper mileage forms rather than the special ration form. This will be true in any cases where applicants do not hold supplementary rations issued for their own occupation, or where the rations now held for this purpose are less than 475 miles per month.

The effect of the new ruling will be to eliminate the double ration books now issued to a number of motorists. To avoid hardship on motorists affected by the ruling, the board will consider renewals of supplementary rations in advance of their present expiration date.

Schools Of Delta County Open Next Wednesday

Delta county schools will open Wednesday, September 6, and on the day previous teachers in county schools will meet at Webster Annex in Escanaba, office of County School Commissioner C. P. Titus, for the annual teacher's meeting.

This year the county school teachers voted to an in service program based on need rather than a pre-school institute. This idea of an in-service program will be carried out in the meeting to be held Tuesday, which is scheduled to start at 9 a. m.

The Delta county health department staff will present the county health program to the teachers in the opening hour of the meeting. This will be followed by a discussion of in-service training by the committee.

School Commissioner Titus will lead a discussion of the problems affecting the county schools, to complete the morning program schedule.

In the afternoon there will be a presentation of the 4-H Club work program by E. A. Wenner, county agricultural agent, followed by a wood carving demonstration by Howard Skinner of Marquette.

During the school year the in-service teacher's committee has arranged for the appearance of speakers in the following program:

Miss Thillie Schlumberger, Scott Foresman reading expert, is scheduled to give reading demonstrations throughout the county beginning the week of October 2. Miss Schlumberger appeared in Delta County giving demonstrations and as an institute speaker in 1937 and 38.

Mrs. Nadia Leonardelli, art instructor from Northern Michigan College of Education will offer courses 410 A, B, and C. Art Correlation, Art Techniques and Art Organization beginning Friday October 13.

Miss Ruth Rogers, Dental health consultant of the State Health Department who gave demonstrations last year will be back again this year the week of October 23 to give demonstration examinations for Parent Teacher and Mother's groups throughout the county.

Dr. Bryan Helise of Eastern Illinois Teachers college will visit the county during the year for a discussion of Child Growth and Development. Dr. Helise was one of six educators selected by the Association of Teachers College presidents to develop a curriculum reconstruction for teacher training institutions in terms of Child Growth and Development. He conducted the graduate study for the University of Michigan at Northern Michigan College of Education this past summer.

The school year will start September 6 for rural schools, and close May 18. The school calendar for 1944-45 includes: M. E. A. Institute, October 5 and 6; Thanksgiving vacation Nov. 30 to Dec. 4; Christmas vacation Dec. 23 to Jan. 2; Easter vacation March 30 to April 3.

There will be 110 teachers employed in the county school system this year, two less than last year.

Three one-room schools in Ford River township will be closed—Temple, Enshaw and Bay Shore schools—and the pupils will be

Veterans' Affairs Office Is Moved

The Delta county office of Veterans' Affairs, Gerald Cleary, secretary, has been moved to the mezzanine floor of the Escanaba National Bank building, 721 Ludington, in offices formerly occupied by the late Dr. H. A. Long.

The office was previously located upstairs at 815 Ludington. Cleary said that increasing business of the office made it necessary to move to larger quarters.

Deferment Rules For Students Are Issued by Board

High school students who reach the age of 18 during the first half of the school year will be called for induction soon after their 18th birthday, unless they are seniors who can graduate at the end of the first semester.

Requests for deferment must be presented in each case where a senior in the first semester can qualify for graduation by being permitted to continue to the remainder of the semester.

The Amazon basin has a network of rivers which are navigable for 15,814 miles.

be permitted to finish the semester, the board reported.
Many high schools have made special provisions for senior boys reaching the age of 18 in the first semester. By speeding up their work load, many of these boys will be able to graduate at the end of the first semester.

Requests for deferment must be presented in each case where a senior in the first semester can qualify for graduation by being permitted to continue to the remainder of the semester.
